Glendale Postoffice Stands Twelfth In Volume of Receipts Throughout State

NEW RECORD IN GROWTH SHOWN BY FIGURES

Offical Report Puts This City Far Ahead of Large Communities

The Glendale postoffice stands twelfth in the volume of postal receipts in the state of California, according to figures compiled by the postoffice department at Washington, D. C., as of July 1, 1923, and which have just been received by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson.

Four cities are listed as having receipts between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000; two between $400,000 and $500,000; three between $300,000 and $400,000; two between $250,000 and $300,000; with Glendale standing twelfth in the list of first class postoffices with receipts ranging between the $150,000 and $200,000 marks.

Glendale Advances

California has 486 postoffices of the first, second and third classes, but the figures furnished Postmaster Jackson do not cover the hundreds of fourth class offices in the state.

During 1923 the Glendale office advanced two grades in the list of offices in the state, based on the volume of receipts, going from $90,000 to $120,000, and then, by an extra spurt, passing the intervening grades to its present mark of $150,000 to $200,000. It is the hope of Postmaster Jackson that the near future will see the local office listed in an even higher grade than it is at present.

Following his address before the Glendale Merchants' association yesterday, Postmaster Jackson received a letter from the organization, warmly endorsing his administration of the office and assuring him of the support of the members in his future plans to give Glendale the best possible mail service.

WILL FACE CHARGES

NAPA, Cal., Dec. 11.—Arrangements were being made today for the return Thursday or Friday to Eau Claire, Wis., of Edward Sailstad and Dorothy Anderson. Sailstad, who is legally dead in Wisconsin, faces charges of arson and grave robbery as a result of the strange hoax through which he substituted the body of a friend in a burning building for himself and thus left the impression he was dead.

FIRE LOSS $150,000

REALTY BROKER SHOOTS HIMSELF

Charles E. Rourke of Eagle Rock Near Death as Result of Wound

Despondent by reason of continued ill health, Charles E. Rourke, real estate broker of Eagle Rock, attempted to take his own life this morning shortly after 7 o'clock by shooting himself in the right temple with a 38 calibre revolver.

He was found by his wife, and taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, where he lies in an unconscious condition, and little hope is held out for his recovery.

Mr. Rourke, who has been engaged in business in Los Angeles and Eagle Rock for twelve years, has been failing for some time, his health during the past year being especially bad. This morning Mrs. Rourke arose and went to the kitchen to prepare breakfast.

Family Hears Shot

While she was gone, Mr. Rourke reached for the gun, which he kept under his pillow, and shot himself. Mrs. Rourke and her daughter, in an adjoining room, heard the shot and rushed to the bed room, where they found Mr. Rourke unconscious and bleeding profusely from the wound in the head.

He was about 60 years of age, and for the past few years had taken an active part in municipal affairs. There had been no financial worries to bother him, according to those who are well acquainted with the family. He had a beautiful home at 2101 Adams street, Eagle Rock, and other interests throughout the valley.

BRUSH FIRE THREATENS NEW AREA

Foothill Homes in Peril as Wind Sends Flames In New Direction

With the brush fire which yesterday afternoon and last night swept through Stough and Sunset canyons reduced to a small area of smouldering embers after burning over several hundred acres of watershed land, a change of wind this morning started the blaze toward La Crescenta and Tujunga, creating a new peril among the fine residences in the foothill district, according to reports from the office of County Forest Supervisor Flintham.

Efforts to get telephone connection with Montrose, Tujunga and Sunland this morning were without result, as all lines were reported out of order.

For a time last nght Glendale was apparently threatened by the blaze as it crept closer to the northwest section of the city, but a favorable wind kept the fire safe beyond this region.

At 4:30 p. m. yesterday the Glendale fire department answered a call from the scene of the blaze and dispatched apparatus to aid in the fighting. City Manager W. H. Reeves received a call for 1000 fire-fighters and immediately sent all available men to the scene.

Second Call Comes

Shortly after midnight this morning Fire Chief Lankford received a second call for aid, when Engine No. 3 from Grand View Station No. 3 was sent out. The fire this time was threatening the palatial Sunset Country club. The engine was hooked up with the swimming pool at the club and kept in readiness for use in protecting the building. However, the grounds about the clubhouse were soaked with water, and no further assistance from the local department was necessary, as the fire was soon placed under control.

Heroic work on the part of hundreds of residents of the foothill district, Glendale and Burbank, is declared responsible for the fire being put under control without more serious damage.

Reports that Fire Chief Homer Davis of Burbank had been seriously burned in fighting the blaze yesterday afternoon, were denied this morning. He suffered only minor burns which were hardly more than scorches, it was reported.

While several cottages are said to have burned in the blaze, the greatest damage, according to the county supervisor's office, was to the watersheds and the creation of a greater flood menace.

Strong State Wide Organization Will Boost For Coolidge

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11. — Announcement was made today by Edward H. Hurlburt, campaign manager of the Republican club, that the meeting here tomorrow of representatives of Collidge for President clubs from all over the state would result in the formation of a statewide Coolidge organization probably to be known as the "League of Coolidge Republican clubs."

According to Hurlburt the meeting will be a very representative one and plans for the Coolidge campaign will be discussed in detail. It is planned to divide the state in three campaign sections with northern headquarters in San Francisco, central in Fresno and southern in Los Angeles. Marshall Hale of San Francisco is looked upon as the probable choice for state chairman.

The organization of Coolidge boosters precedes by three days a similar meeting called by supporters of Senator Hiram Johnson for December 15.

MEXICAN REVOLT WORRIES EUROPE

Powers Plan to Ask America To Intervene if Rebels Defeat Obregon

PARIS, Dec. 11.—An unconfirmed report was circulated in diplomatic circles today that certain European powers will bring pressure upon the United States to intervene in Mexico if the Mexican rebels are successful in overthrowing the Obregon government.

French officials recalled that France recognized the Obregon government because she wished to "consolidate" with America. It is likely that France will refuse to recognize any government that overthrows President Obregon by force of arms.

RE-ELECTION OF ALBERT CUMMINS HALTED

Little Band of Insurgents Hold Balance of Power, So Ballots Show

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The bonus fight was reopened in the senate this afternoon when Senator Charles Curtis, Republican, Kansas, introduced the soldiers' adjusted compensation bill that was passed by congress last year and vetoed by President Harding.

The measure was referred to the finance committee without debate. It provides bonus payments of $1 a day for service at home and $1.25 a day for service abroad after the first sixty days of service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The little militant band of Progressives is still demonstrating that it holds the balance of power in the senate.

After the group had blocked the Republican organization for three ballots by opposing the re-election of Senator Albert B. Cummins, as chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee, the fight was abandoned by administration leaders.

An executive session was held for the consideration of presidential appointments and resumption of the organiaztion quarrel postponed until tomorrow.

The first ballot today showed the same results as on the first ballot yesterday. Cummins obtained forty-one "regular" votes, while thirty-nine Democrats voted solidly for Senator Ellison D. Smith, Democrat, of South Carolina. The seven insurgents voted for Senator Robert M. La Follette, Republican, of Wisconsin.

As eighty-seven votes were cast, it necessitated forty-four votes for an election.

Insurgent Senators

The insurgents were Senators Norris and Howell, Republicans, of Nebraska; Brookhart, Republican of Iowa; Frazier and Ladd, Republicans, of North Dakota, and Shipstead and Johnson, Farmer-Labor, of Minnesota.

The second ballot, the fifth since the fight started yesterday, again failed to smash the deadlock.

The result was:

Cummins, 41; Smith, 39; La Follette, 7.

There was no change in the vote and a third ballot was ordered.

Seek Russ Recognition

The fight of Progressives in the Senate to secure recognition of soviet Russia by the United States was started in the Senate today.

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, introduced a resolution declaring the sense of the senate that the United States should recognize Russia.

Large, Close In Property Will Be Subdivided, With All Modern Improvements

A new and large foothill subdivision, comparable with the finest in Southern California, is to be opened up by the A. E. Davies company, 4568 Hollywood boulevard, Los Angeles. Comprising 140 acres of sightly land lying north of Mountain street, east of Campbell street and directly west of Bellehurst, one of the last close-in sections still undeveloped, it will be offered to the public under the name of the Glendale Bowl tract, by reason of its natural amphitheatre contour, giving practically every site a south exposure.

High over the city, where it basks all day long in the warm sun and is reached only by gentle breezes, saved from the harsh north winds by the tall Verdugos just beyond, the tract is at the same time but a stone's throw from Brand boulevard and no more than half a dozen blocks from the Glendale business district.

High Class Property

With these natural and economic advantages, it becomes logically the plan of the Davies company to develop the Glendale Bowl tract as one of the highest class and most artistic subdivisions contiguous to the Los Angeles territory. Improvements, for which initial work is already reported to be under way, will include gas, water, electricity, concrete streets, sidewalks and curbs, retaining walls, telephones, ornamental street lights, winding boulevards, beau-

Montana Bank Crash Worst in Three Years

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Dec. 11.—Business and banking circles in the northwest declared today that the closing yesterday of the First National bank of Lewistown, Mont., is the most disastrous of any of the bank failures of the last three years.

The liabilities of the First National bank on September 14, the date of the last call of the comptroller of the currency, were $4,000,000. Cash on hand and cash items available at this time were far below that required by law, but the directors were given a chance to realize on their assets and put the institution on a sound basis. # Sympathy of Club Women Expressed Over Loss of McGroarty's Tujunga Home

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff.

Joyousness of Southern California club women poured out last Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. John Steven McGroarty on the occasion of the housewarming of their new home in "The Green Verdugo Hills" was turned to sadness and regret yesterday, when the 303 members of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's clubs, meeting for the third presidents' council at the Women's club of Hollywood, gave heartfelt expression in a resolution of sympathy to the McGroartys, whose new home was reduced to ashes in a fire on Sunday.

Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of the Los Angeles district, presiding officer, appointed Dr. Marian Tracie Whiting, president of the South Side Ebell club of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, California director of the General Federation of Women's clubs, as members of a committee to draw up the resolution.

"John Steven McGroarty has become an institution in southern California," said Mrs. Toll, "and our hearts go out to him and Mrs McGroarty in their loss."

The beautifully-worded resolution, drawn up and heartily endorsed by the clubwomen, reads:

Text of Resolution

"To John Steven McGroarty, California's own lover of humanity and, therefore, the friend of all clubwomen, particularly the women of southern California, who has suffered this irreparable loss in the sweeping away of so much of value to him and to us as well,

"We, the presidents of women's federated clubs of the Los Angeles district, in council assembled, desire to express our heartfelt understanding and sympathy and, at the same time, to voice our deep consciousness that wind, nor tide, nor flame, nor disaster can down that invincible spirit nor rob us nor him of the sublime genius that, through his poesy and gentle philosophy, sheds a sweet influence and lasting benediction on us all."

Glendale women who had the privilege of participating in the unanimous approval of this resolution were Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of the Los Angeles district; Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president; Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, first vice-president; Mrs. M. E. Plasterer, treasurer; Mrs. A. A. Barton, director, of the Tuesday Afternoon club; Mrs. H. S. McCormack, corresponding secretary of the Los Angeles district; Mrs. R. W. Meeker, vice-president of the Reciprocity club of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Toll's conduct of club gatherings is always a delight to her followers and, yesterday, true to her custom, the council began promptly at the hour appointed, and progressed throughout the day according to schedule.

Plan for 1924 Meet

Outline of plans for the biennial of the National Federation in Los Angeles, June 3 to 13, 1924, and reports on district activities dominated the day's program, enjoyed by 303 clubwomen, representing eighty-one of the clubs included in the 174 enrolled in the Los Angeles district.

Hinting of the aprpoach of Christmas, "Silent Night" was one of the songs sung during the community singing hour directed by Mrs. William Mabee. The women also sang "America, the Beautiful," and all were urged to learn both the words and music before the district, state and national conventions next spring.

Another event of the morning was the half-hour institute conducted by Mrs. C. S. McKelvey, state parliamentarian, who emphasized the subject of bylaws, and advocated that every club should be incorporated. Her discussion of club administration was further stressed by Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, who advised that in every club the constitution and bylaws should be read to the club once each year. Her plea was "for an understanding of the fundamental machinery of club organization," with a view to perfect co-ordination of individual club, district, state and national affairs.

Urge Child Labor Law

Mrs. E. M. Timeroff, district state chairman of circulation of the "California Federation News," "The Little Bulletin With a Big Spirit," was another speaker. She was followed by Mrs. C. J. Colden, district chairman of business and industrial relations, who spoke in favor of a national child labor amendment and against the blanket equality amendment, and also the lowering of taxes at the expense of industries, humanitarianism and schools.

Mrs. Toll's message to the club presidents and other representatives was given under the title, "Interests, Past and Present." She reviewed the recent visit of Mrs. T. G. Winter, president of the General Federation, and then discussed affairs of the district and state.

"My New Year's prayer is, help all women, especially club presidents, to be broadminded and see things in the large," was one of her outstanding statements.

Just before dismissal for the luncheon hour, Miss Anne McPherson, accompanied by Mrs. M. Henion Robinson, pianist, sang "Call Me No More" (Cadman) and "Carmela" (Gertrude Ross).

A delightful luncheon was served in the banquet room of the clubhouse by members of the Hollywood club. For their pleasing hospitality and gracious courtesy Mrs. Toll thanked them and, in response, Mrs. J. F. Mead, president of the club, gave a charming informal talk on club activities.

Past Presidents

Mrs. Toll had announced that she had a surprise for the luncheon hour, and she introduced some past presidents, saying: "Past presidents, who have built the ladder which, step by step, we are trying to climb."

Mrs. Florence Collins Porter of South Pasadena was unable to be present, and sent a sweetly-worded message.

Mrs. Oliver C. Bryant, who was district president in 1905-1906, responded to her introduction, and gave some interesting reminiscences of the early days of the Los Angeles District Federation.

Biennial affairs formed the feature interest of the afternoon. Mrs. J. F. Sartori, president of the California local biennial board, was present, and outlined plans for the national convention. Her remarks were supplemented by Mrs. Herbert A. Cable, chairman of finance, and Mrs. Sidney Thomas Bixley, chairman on committees.

Mrs. Cable stated that every club in the California federation is to pay fifty cents per capita for expense of the biennial. Mrs. Bixley's announcement was that there will probably be thirty committees, composed of 1000 women, functioning for the biennial. Each gave in detail plans for the work under her supervision.

Mrs. Burdette, chairman of program for the biennial, added to the announcements by stating that "California is to be saturated with the latest ideals" at the biennial.

Prominent Speakers

Other speakers of the afternoon were Miss Lillian Douglas, district chairman of home economics; Miss Julia Tubbs, insurance expert; Dr. Luna B. Phelps, district chairman of child welfare; Mrs. A. S. C. Forbes, district chairman of California history and landmarks; Mrs. E. E. Leighton, district chairman of fine arts; Mrs. J. A. Rowland, president of the La Puente Valley Women's club; Mrs. R. B. von Kleinsmid, president of the University of Southern California Women's club.

In addressing the company Mrs. Leighton presented two resolutions, acted upon favorably by the clubwomen. One resolution was to the Los Angeles City Council advocating the appointment of an artist or artists on the city art commission. The other requested that the Chamber of Commerce plan for a special room in their new building for exhibits of work by California artists.

The final speaker was Senora Aurelia Borquez, who told in a most interesting way of "Women's Clubs in Mexico."

In dismissing the council, Mrs. Toll announced that the fourth meeting of the district presidents' council is to be held January 11, at the Catholic Women's club in Los Angeles.

War Worker Talks to Boys at Hi-Y Dinner

Dr. A. E. Hoare was honored guest and speaker at the Hi-Y banquet last night at the Central Christian church, and the message he brought to the boys and their guests was indeed an inspiring one.

He told of his service ovreseas during the war with the New Zealand forces. He emphasized the boys' part in the war and cited numerous cases of heroism and loyalty on the part of the boys.

"Thank God every day for your American citizenship," he said, "and work for that citizenship. Accept the challenge of the world for moral leadership. Don't wait for a crisis like war. Every day is a crisis and the decisions you make today will determine your futures."

Theodore Haig, president of the Hi-Y, was toastmaster. There were selections by the Hi-Y orchestra and the quartet from the colored Hi-Y in Los Angeles entertained.

LA CRESCENTA

ELECT OFFICERS OF ASSOCIATION

Legislation for Better Fire Protection Favored By Crescentans

The main business of the last meeting of the Improvement Association was the annual election of officers, other business was taken care of, but most of the people present were interested in securing the right persons to serve for the coming year.

As president of the new board Mark S. Collins was unaminously elected as were D. Culbertson, Dr. Nettleton for vice-presidents in the order named: For secretary, M. Kots, Mrs. Mary, D. Durrow were renominated, but both declined on account of pressing business matters. Ex-Governor Plaisted was then nominated and elected. C. Haskins of Montrose was elected to succeed himself as treasurer.

The widening of Michigan highway was discussed by the association going on record in favor of this move.

Fire Chief Young presented a letter which was read by the retiring president, Mr. Culbertson, in regard to approving the new fire law which is to come before the State Legislature for consideration. This community, in fact any community in Southern California today, needs must have more adequate fire protection than is at their disposal now. This bill means a very small tax per capita added to the yearly tax bill.

Thes protection it afforded would be worth more than the actual tax would amount to it is claimed.

Christmas Donation

Mr. Blanford asked for a donation for the school tree treat for the kiddies and as the Montrose Chamber of Commerce had donated $25 it was suggested the local Association give a like sum. As the exchequer of the Association is rather down at the mouth, Mr. Collins started off a collection with $5.00, the hat was passed and $29.50 was raised.

Mr. Baron gave a short talk on the American Legion and what it meant to a community, how it stood behind all moves for civic betterment, and worked for and with the Boy Scouts.

The new chapter formed this week in Montrose has been named the Verdugo Legion Post. Every member is, Mr. Baron stated, expected to bring in a new member at the next meeting and help boost the slogan 100 members by Christmas.

A cordial invitation is extended to all service men to meet at the Sparr Heights Community House on Wednesday night, December 12.

A most serious question to this valley was discussed, telephone service. Letters were read by Mark Collins, received by him from the Railroad Commission, which promised, on the receipt of names of people who had been waiting for six months or longer to give this matter their full attention.

Anyone in the valley who has not yet received his phone, is requested to write a letter to Mark Collins, La Crescenta stating their case, length of time waited etc., and Mr. Collins will see these letters reach the right persons. Also anyone wishing a phone is requested to hand in an application to Mr. Collins as these will receive quicker attention than individual applications sent in to the local office. Mr. Culberson introduced Governor Plaisted who spoke very feelingly of our beautiful La Crescenta district. In two or three years Mr. Plaisted predicted La Crescenta will be a town of 3000 to 5000, inhabitants.

Lost Fire Shovels

The matter of the lost fire shovels was taken up and a committee appointed to call on E. F. Sanders of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to see what action had been taken in the matter of paying the bill for the lost articles which were used in the San Rafael hills fire a few weeks ago.

Thomas Brown requested the new president to take the chair, while he made the motion to give retiring president Culberson a standing vote of thanks for the splendid work he has done in the past twelve months, the vote was instantly given.

Mrs. Guy Kennedy who passed away last week with pneumonia, was buried on last Thursday afternoon at Forest Lawn. Rev. Kelso preached the funeral service. Mrs. Kennedy leaves a husband and two children.

Church Bazaar Success

The tea and bazaar given by the ladies of the Woman's Guild of St. Luke of the Mountains was a rousing success financially and every way.

It was the aim of the officers of the Guild in making the donated articles, to have a fair price on everything and judging from the results this end was accomplished. Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thomas, who so kindly threw open their beautiful home for the occasion, had placed tables at vantage points on their spacious front porches, where the trees in the grounds made an attractive background. The receipts for the afternoon were as follows: Candy table in charge of Miss Janet Culberson, $10; jams, jellies and preserves in charge of Mrs. P. Culberson, $26.30; fancy work booth attended by Mrs. Mark S. Collins and Mrs. R. Wildhack and Mrs. R. Scales, $72.25; cake table in charge of Mrs. Mary B. Darrow, $10.15; tea table in charge of Mrs. Seymour Thomas, $13; altogether a total of $158 was received. Mrs. Turk presided at the tea table for the first of the afternoon, when Mrs. Ernest Wemple took charge.

Six members of the Guild of St. Mark's in Glendale came in a body and their gifts met with a ready sale. The Glendale visitors were: Mesdames Nell Holbrook, F. S. Card, Kate Goodwin, Annette Powers; Harry Speck and Gibson Kelly.

A short business meeting of the guild was held previous to the bazaar, when Mrs. Thomas told of the Christmas cards ordered by Mr. Thomas for the benefit of the church building fund These cards are color reproductions of the picture of "St. Luke of the Mountains" church as it will look when completed with a mailing envelope. Anyone wishing these cards will get in touch with Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thomas who will reserve all those ordered. The cards will be ready this week.

Mrs. Mary B. Darrow, as president of the Guild, wishes to thank the ladies who worked so harmoniously and faithfully together making the affair the success it was.

Those in charge of arrangements were Mesdames Seymour Thomas, P. Culberson, Mark S. Collins, R. Wildhack, G. Scoles of Flintridge, Turck, Wemple and Miss Janet Culberson, also all who so generously donated articles for sale.

Mrs. Fowler of Pasadena gave a charming reading of a beautiful Christmas story, which was well received, Mrs. McCoy gave a short reading on "Being a Boy". Many out-of-town visitors were present, many of whom spent a pleasant hour in the studio. Deaconess Grebe is fostering a movement whereby all the Sunday School children will be formed into a church choir. The Guild voted to give to each child one of the St. Luke Christmas card for Christmas remembrance rather than candy, which met with instant approval by the mothers.

EAGLE ROCK

BUILDING SLUMP FOR PAST MONTH

Permits Show Drop During November; Year's Total Passes 1922

Eagle Rock suffered a decided slump in building permits for the month of November, with a total of but $181,615, as against $208,980 for November of a year ago, and as contrasted with $273,917 for October of this year.

The November 1922 permits ran high because of several large projects that came through at that time, it is urged, while the additional claim is made that there is a general galling off in permits toward the close of the year.

The tabulation below tells the story in detail, offering comparisons all along the line, for 1923 as contrasted with 1922:

| | Valuation 1923 | 1922 |
|---|---|---|
| Jan. | 166,247 | 157,295 |
| Feb. | 150,045 | 175.360 |
| Mar. | 311,437 | 227,955 |
| Apr. | 210,237 | 194,275 |

Hold Bazaar

Numbers of Eagle Rock folk enjoyed a real old-fashioned chicken dinner at the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse Saturday night, December 8, under auspices of the local Congregational church.

In addition, many bought practical Christmas gifts bearing the hand-made touch of personality so desirable.

At a meeting of Presbyterians in the Immanual church of Los Angeles last week, it was decided to give an Exposition of Missions, which will include pageants and exhibits. The Eagle Rock church will participate, the parts having been assigned to them covering Indians and the Near East, reports Rev. William Middlemass, pastor.

As Dr. J. C. Shedd's mother and father spent most of their lives as missionaries in the Near East and his brother died there a martyr in the late war, he will have much to do with the Near East pageant; while Rev. W. R. Johnston and family, who spent many years among the Indians, will be able to contribute material assistance along this line.

Better Pictures

Eagle Rock aspirants to the glories of film authorship are invited to attend the meetings of the Los Angeles Scenario club, which are held every Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Triangle club rooms at 631 South Spring street.

At the meeting of Thursday, December 13, Director Robert W. Major will deliver an instructive address on the subject of better pictures.

Glendale Pioneer Notchers are anticipating a real vacation at Christmas time, when they will motor south to San Diego for a four-day stay. They will be accompanied by Rex C. Kelley and will make their headquarters at the Y. M. C. A. building.

Visits to Balboa park, the submarine base, the aviation field on North Island and Point Loma are some of the treats in store for the boys.

NEWCOMERS WILL RUN CYCLE SHOP

Marlett Bros. Buy Business Of a Pfeifer; to Carry Standard Wheels

W. W. and J. C. Marlett have purchased the business of the William A. Pfeifer Cycle company, 110 South Maryland avenue, and announce that they will operate under the name of Marlett Brothers, and will continue Mr. Pfeifer's policy of carrying standard makes of wheels, velocipedes, wagons, scooters and other children's vehicles.

"For the Christmas trade we will feature the Peerless bicycle at a special price," says J. C. Marlett, who will be in charge of sales. "We invite parents and young folks who are planning to purchase wheels for the holiday season to come in and see these Peerless models before they buy.

"In addition, we carry all the standard makes of wheels, and purchasers who buy from us will profit by securing the services of our repair department, in charge of my brother, W. W. Marlett, assisted by Harold Metcalf, both experts in this line of work. It is well, when buying a wheel, as in purchasing an automobile, to inquire before concluding the deal what kind of service can be expected. We can guarantee expert service, an important factor.

Big Stock of Parts

"We also carry at our store parts for and are able to make quick repairs on all standard makes of wheels, and we carry, furthermore, a full line of bicycle accessories. We are bicycle men with years of experience, and are conducting a thoroughly first-class shop, on the 'know how' plan. We picked Glendale for this line of business after looking over southern California from one end to the other, and are here to grow with the city. All we ask is an opportunity to prove that we know our business and that our wares are the right quality at the right price."

W. W. Marlett comes to Glendale from Topeka, Kan., and J. C. Marlett from Army City, Kan. Both have located here with their families, and plan to make this city their permanent home, as well as their business headquarters.

LEAVES APOLOGY

After breaking into a co-operative store in England the other day, and taking all easily removable goods and cash, a burglar left a note apologizing for his intrusion. He explained that he was sorry for what he had done and left the note so that no reflection would be cast on the staff. He had forced open a window to enter and explained no one's negligence was at fault.

CHEST CAMPAIGN ENDS TOMORROW

W. E. Hewitt Makes Final Plea to Generous Citizens To Aid Budget

With the final drive of the Glendale Welfare Chest for 1923 within a day of closing, hundreds upon hundreds of people have not yet contributed, reports W. E. Hewitt, chairman of the board of directors of the chest.

Many hundreds more, he states, have not contributed 50 per cent of what would be their just proportion of the $40,000 budget being subscribed to finance for the entire year of 1924 the fourteen participating organizations, while in scores of instances contributions received have not totalled one-fifth of what should be forthcoming.

"Such a condition must be due to a misunderstanding of the purpose of the Welfare Chest," says Mr. Hewitt, "and not to any unwillingness of Glendalians to open their hearts and their purses. Charity is a duty, not a luxury. This drive is for everyone and is to cover all demands of a charitable nature for the entire year.

$15 Minimum Urged

"Those who last year gave an average of $5 to each of the fourteen participating organizations should this year give a total of $70. And as for smaller donations, it is inconceivable how anyone understanding the purposes of this chest could give less than $15, or an average fo about $1 per organization. Surely no one would think of contributing less than that to any one of the following organizations, among whom the $40,000 will be distributed: American Red Cross, American War Mothers, American Legion Auxiliary, Boy Scouts, Bureau of Catholic Charities, Children's Home Society of California, Children's Hospital Society, Christian Circle Club, Community Service, Glendale Welfare Bureau, Jewish Charities, Salvation Army, Women's Christian Temperance Union, Young Men's Christian Association.

"With a little more than a day left in which to complete the drive, there is but one way to make it a success and turn to the Christmas season with a clear conscience—and that is to mail in or bring in at once to Welfare Chest headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, 150 South Brand boulevard, a prodigious shower of money and checks that will show Glendalians' hearts are in the right place. Otherwise, the fourteen participating organizations enumerated above will be crippled in their 1924 charitable and welfare work.

"Those who have not as yet given should figure out how much they would give for a whole year to each of those fourteen organizations, then add up the list and make their contributions for that amount. Those who have already given should go over the list again and with their own hearts as guides, figure out how far short of justice and mercy their prior donations were, and remit the balance.

Teams Still Busy

"The thirty teams of representative business men picked by the executive committee of the Welfare Chest are still in the field and will actively co-operate with givers until Wednesday night, December 12. These men are giving their time, taken away from their business, in a task that to be successful demands the co-operation of the public. When they call on you, receive them cordially and give them your contribution without excuse or delay. They are our official representatives, working with the board of directors of the chest to put this drive over. They have a right to your courtesy and your adequate donation. Every Glendalian must bear the responsibilities and the obligations of a resident, as well as the advantages and rewards. The Welfare Chest drive must be made a success."

Kellogg Appointment Confirmed for Envoy

tion of the nomination of Kellogg was taken today when the appointment was formally approved by the senate relations committee.

The committee also voted favorably on the nomination of Henry P. Fletcher, present ambassador to Belgium, to serve at the same time as minister to Luxemburg.

A lone objection to the appointment of Kellogg was raised by Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, of Minnesota, who defeated Kellogg in the senatorial race.

Those voting against Kellogg were: Republicans—Brookhart of Iowa; Frasier of North Dakota; Norris of Nebraska. Democrats—Copeland, New York; Dill of Washington; Ferris of Michigan; Wheeler of Montana. Farmer—Laborite — Johnson and Shipstead of Minnesota.

That's All

Club or Hotel Big Need
Glendale Gets Advertising
Admire City's Growth
What Others Have To Say

By Gil A. Cowan

There is one thing Glendale needs, among many. That is a club or hotel where strangers in the city may be properly entertained.

In traveling about the state one notes that the most progressive cities provide for their visitors at least the ordinary accommodations.

Does Glendale? It does not. Now it is futile to talk about bringing large industries, when their captains have to stay in Los Angeles or Burbank or some adjoining city.

Let's go, Glendale.

Incidentally, Glendale is getting some mighty good advertising throughout the state of California by the report in the California Real Estate magazine on the results of the multiple listing conference held in this city last month under the leadership of Charles B. Guthrie, state vice-president of realty organization.

In every city we find this magazine being read and at meetings of the Porterfield and Bakersfield realty boards last week, which the writer attended, many references were made to our home city, which bears well the name "the fastest growing city in America."

And in the San Joaquin valley we hear plaudits of Glendale being without the city of Los Angeles. They are surprised that the municipality so close to the metropolis has kept free of the "big city."

Indeed, they admire Glendale's courage at work for itself rather than being a little fish in a big pond.

In the editorial columns of the newspapers throughout the state we find sandwiched some meaty lines of cheer which we herewith pass on to you:

Plasterer Engages in Unique Campaign

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Dec. 11 —When Hiram Plasterer became a candidate for Director of the Poor in Franklin County he announced he would award six floral prizes to the persons who came nearest to guessing the total number of votes he would receive in the election. Plasterer is a florist and, in addition to the prizes, also isused little booklets giving advice on how to grow flowers.

His campaign methods attracted considerable attention, and he was elected. He has awarded all the promised prizes, ranging from two dozen chrysanthemums to twelve flowers of other varieties.

Children Play Ball With Infant's Skull

FALL RIVER, Mass., Dec. 11. —A group of children were playing in a vacant lot near here and were tossing around a strange "object," which they had unearthed in a nearby dump to use as a ball.

One of the group, Norman Maynard, 12 years old, took the "object" to his home to save for a game on the following day.

The "object" proved to be the skull of a young child.

The skull was turned over to Medical Examiner Blanchette. He declared the child had been dead but a few weeks.

An investigation was started immediately.

ACTRESS PROVES SHE'S ACTIVE

Leaps From Stage To Lap Of Theatre Patron

Cecil Sorel

PARIS, Dec. 11.—Cecil Sorel just won't have it rumored about that "Sorel is getting old." The other night, to prove her physical fitness, she leaped from the stage of the Comedie Francaise across the heads of the startled musicians in the orchestra pit into the lap of a man.

The lap happened to be that of Lionel Laroze, veteran man of letters. Monsieur Laroze is well cushioned with fat and Mademoiselle Sorel suffered no hurts, while Monsieur suffered only embarrassment. It isn't every night in man's life, even that of a Parisian, that a beautiful woman comes plunging from the stage into your lap. No wonder Monsieur Laroze was surprised and embarrassed. But he managed to say afterward, with the inborn courtesy of a Frenchman, that it was the proudest moment of his life.

"There wasn't even a bruise," Sorel said a few moments later in her dressing room, and three minutes after the fall, she was again old Petruchio's untamed little Katherine.

Proud of Her Body

"First, I believe I can express more on the stage with a graceful body than I can with spoken lines," she said. "Naturally, I train for it, and with the result that I have the body of a young Greek god. I am quite proud of it. Every morning I do exercises that strengthen every muscle in me.

"I follow the idea of the ancient Spartans and work entirely nude, of course, dancing and jumping until I am quite exhausted," she continued. "But I never lose a certain sense of rhythic harmony that makes for grace and suppleness.

"Really, the body is the thing. And when one has a beautiful body one should not be afraid to show it.

"I went to the Bal de l'Opera in a costume that revealed every line of me. When I am on my yacht I have part of the deck screened off for my morning exercise and then plunge into the water just as nature made me. That is what puts life into me. That is what keeps me young and vigorous."

When asked if also she had trained for her leap from the stage, Mlle. Sorel only smiled—smiled an enignamic smile that might mean a great many things.

TEST OF DYES IN TROPICAL CLIME

Soldiers in Panama to Wear Bright New Uniforms as Experiment

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The principal duties of American soldiers in Panama and other strictly sunny climes will consist, for the next few months, of wearing bright new uniforms to put to actual test new olive drab dyes, according to War Department plans made public recently.

Before the war olive drab uniforms were dyed with German vat colors, and while these dyes are now once more available they have become so expensive that the War Department has formed a committee of experts to find a suitable substitute.

Four companies of American soldiers will be supplied with new uniforms colored by the four dye processes which the expert committee has under consideration and each color will thus be given a thorough test. Two months under a tropical sun, according to army officials, will definitely determine the value of the new dyes.

The American doughboy himself, moreover, puts the olive drab color to a test that is probably even more severe than that of exposure to the sun and the rain. According to officials, the soldiers, using bleaching powder and other devices try to get the color out of their uniforms as quickly as jossible in order that they won't be mistaken, or revealed, as the case may be, as rookies.

To offset this complication the committee will further endeavor to establish standard laundry methods and will recommend that the Government use specifications employed by the National Laundry Association.

The four dye processes which are under consideration are the sulphur process, used to a large extent during the war; two mineral dry methods and alizarine.

The experiments are in charge of General J. B. Bellinger, Assistant Quartermaster-General of the Army, and the dye experts forming the committee are members of the American Chemical Society and dye manufacturers.

The cost of the experiments will be divided between the Government and the dye manufacturers, the Government supplying the cloth and the manufacturers supplying the dyes.

If the American dye manufacturers fail to produce a suitable process the War Department will probably experiment with English dyes, and if these, too, are unsatisfactory the German dyes will be used.

ASKS AID TO GERMANY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Setting up of $100,000,000 in the treasury department for the purchase of foodstuffs in the United States for Germany was proposed in a bill introduced in the House by Representative Macgregor, Republican, New York. Not more than $10,000,000 of the fund could be expended in any one month, the bill provides.

FEDERAL AGENCY TO AID GROWERS

High Tariff Also Favored to Rescue Wheat Farmers From Troubles

DENVER, Dec. 11.—A vigorous effort to build up a "tariff wall" in favor of American farmers will result from the recent meeting here of the American Wheat Growers, Associated. A federal "export agency" is also a probable outgrowth of action taken here.

The Denver meeting, attended by delegates from a dozen wheat growing States, was addressed by Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation, and by former Congressman Frank W. Mondell, of Wyoming, a director of the corporation, both of whom were named by President Coolidge to make a survey of the important wheat centers of the country with a view to recommending action that might alleviate the economic depression complained of in the agricultural industry.

As an important factor in remedying existing evils so far as the wheat grower is concerned, Managing Director Meyer urged adoption of the co-operative marketing plan among wheat growers, and intimated that the Federal Government would readily supply financial aid to enable the wheat growers to market their crops in an orderly business manner. Storing of wheat to prevent "dumping," thus insuring the producer a stable year-round price, will be a part of this "orderly business manner."

Following a two days' conference, the Wheat Growers, Associated, adopted a resolution urging a higher tariff on wheat. George C. Jewett, of Minneapolis, general manager of the wheat growers organization, was authorized to present the body's demands to President Coolidge.

The Resolution

The tariff resolution adopted reads:

"That this body go on record as urging the President and Congress of the United States to enact legislation placing a higher tariff on importation of wheat, and setting up a body with power to purchase and merchandise the exportable surplus and with authority to so control the trade in wheat that this exportable surplus may be sold on the markets of the world, and any loss taken on the exportable surplus be pro-rated back upon the entire wheat crop of the country.

"This should apply to any agricultural commodity in which we find we have at this time an exportable surplus."

Jewett announced that he would go to Washington shortly thereafter to confer with President Coolidge on the resolution.

Ask Coolidge Aid

Jewett will ask the President, he announced here, that the emergency clause of the present tariff law be invoked to raise the tariff on wheat importation 50 per cent.

The present rate is 30 cents per bushel and the maximum rate allowable under the law is 45 cents per bushel.

"Cheaply raised Canadian wheat is flooding this country," Jewett declared, "and unless there is prompt action to stem the tide our wheat growers will be left with a huge surplus crop, while Canadian wheat will be used to produce much of our flour.

"The 30-cent wheat tariff is not high enough to turn back Canadian wheat."

Jewett said that if he is successful in his effort to secure emergency action from President Coolidge he will submit to Congress a plan to enact a permanent increase in the wheat tariff.

Appeal to Congress

Jewett also expects to secure Congressional action on the plan to set up a Government "export agency."

"Under the plan we have in mind," he said, "the Government will not be forced to spend any money or suffer loss because of the operation of such a corporation. The corporation will merely handle the exportable surplus of American-grown wheat in such a way that the best world price can be obtained from it. Wheat growers expect to accept a lower price for export wheat than they do for their domestic sold grain.

"The loss in price between the world figure and the domestic price will be less if handled through a Government body. The plan is merely a phase of co-operative marketing.

"In order to protect the Government against loss it is proposed that the entire wheat crop shall write off any loss incurred in handling the export. That can be done without causing any great burden for the wheat grower.

To Spread Loss

"One plan is to deduct from the sale price of domestic wheat a certain amount per bushel at the primary market. Such sums would be turned into a fund held for the Government, from which it could draw to offset any losses in handling the export. It does not mean that the Government will have to buy wheat or incur any other obligation, except to direct marketing of the commodity. The wheat growers will bear the expense in proportion to the amount of wheat each raises."

As the average domestic wheat sales reach a total of 65,000,000 bushels yearly, and the export is approximately 170,000,000 bushels, the wheat growers believe that a spread of the export loss over the entire production will be an almost negligible factor.

FIRE THREATENS FOOTHILL HOMES

Wind Change Sends Flames Toward La Crescenta And Tujunga

Stough canyon, is reported entirely burned over, although the actual damage is not considered great.

During the early stages of the fire yesterday afternoon, fire fighters were quickly organized, and besides the apparatus sent from Glendale, fire equipment from both Los Angeles and Burbank was pressed into service. This was taken more as a precautionary measure, in the event the fire should reach the city of Burbank, which was considerably menaced for a time.

Women of Burbank prepared coffee and sandwiches for the fighters, while men and boys worked heroically in helping prevent the blaze reaching the city.

Menace to Foothills Slight, Says Thorpe

J. R. Thorpe of the Oakmont Saddle Stables, Glendale, reported this morning, after an inspection of the area threatened by the brush fire which started in the foothills at 3 p. m. yesterday, that the blaze appeared to be confined to Stough and Sunset canyons, and is apparently under control.

Despite the reports received early this morning that Tujunga and La Crescenta were threatened by the blaze, owing to a change of wind, Mr. Thorpe said that he believed neither of the towns were menaced, nor that the fire would get beyond the canyons.

Blames Many Ills on High Blood Pressure

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 11.—That mortality may be reduced by teaching of the public how to control high blood pressure is the belief voiced by Dr. Martin A. Martensen, of Battle Creek, Mich., in an address here.

He declared that persons should be suspicious of chronic cases of morning headaches, nervous disorders, and, in later life, dizzy spells, vertigo, palpitations and chest pains.

Careful watch on the arterial tension of youthful patients was urged by Dr. Martensen, who asserted that research prompted his belief that "there may be more than a little truth in the theory that high blood pressure is often attributable to heredity."

SUSPECT GETS FREEDOM

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Elgin Pittman, arrested here several days ago suspected of slaying his wife, whose dead body was thought to have been found in the Columbia river near Wallula, Wash., last June, was free following his release from the county jail when word was received from Pendleton, Ore., authorities that photographs of the woman arrested with Pittman here were identified as those of his wife. From the time of Pittman's arrest the woman with him maintained she was his wife and apparently the woman believed to have been murdered.

New Refining Method Boon to Oil Industry

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—A crude oil refining proceess, which, if it fulfills claims made for it by its inventor may revolutionize the oil industry, has been discovered by Henry Ehrhart of Kansas City, who is here on business in connection with his discovery.

Ehrhart declares his process will produce 98 per cent gasoline from high grade crude oils and up to 75 per cent illuminating oil, which includes gasoline and kerosene, from lower grades of oil of asphaltum base origin. The kerosene oil thus obtained, and for which there is only a slender market, may be re-run in this process, according to Ehrhart, and made into 80 per cent gasoline.

Thrice Grandmother in Three Days' Time

DANVILLE, Pa., Dec. 11. — Clara Kinn, a local resident, recently became a grandmother, three times in as many days. She is claiming a record for the state, because she has but three children. The first of the trio of grandchildren was born to Mrs. Myrtle Fallon, her daughter; the second to Mrs. Joseph Kinn, her daughter-in-law, and the third to Mrs. Peter Shagren, a daughter.

LISTING MERITS

The Topeka, Kansas, real estate board has found its board advertising listing the attractions and merits of Topeka profitable to individual realtors as well as to the city, the board reports. A plan for raising the amount of assessment for the cooperative advertising in order to increase the volume for the coming year is before the board.

INFORMATION PLAN

Broad-gauged plans for undertaking the spread of information on the whole community and the whole relationship of real estate to the community are becoming the outstanding features of real estate board advertising as plans from every section of the country come to headquarters of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

PACKER TO SHOW TALKATIVE AUTO

Mystery Car to Be Displayed For Local Motorists at Studebaker Agency

"The Talking Studebaker," the new Big Six touring car that has been mystifying automobile experts and citizens generally all over the country, will open a three day engagement in Glendale Thursday at the showrooms of the Packer Auto Co., 245 South Brand boulevard, distributors of the Studebaker line here.

According to Don H. Packer the "Talking Studebaker" is a mystery in many ways. He asserts that it talks, it sees and it hears, and he also admits that he doesn't know how it manages to do any of those things. There are no wires connected with the machine, and it has been a puzzle to everyone who has seen it, to determine just how the Big Six "does its stuff."

The "Talking Studebaker" is being demonstrated throughout Southern California at the showrooms of those distributors who are willing to meet the cost incident to its display, and the Packer Auto Co., ever anxious to keep the Studebaker line before the motoring public, has contracted for the showing of the car here for three days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, when the machine will be on display all day and during the evenings.

The mystery of the "Talking Studebaker" has aroused intense interest wherever it has been shown, and it is predicted that Glendale motorists will pack the Packer Auto company's offices during the three days it is here.

UNFILLED ORDERS

COOLIDGE GIVES PLATFORM HINTS

Congress Message Opens Way for Opponents' Attack On Candidacy

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—President Coolidge's platform for 1924, on which he has staked in large measure his political future, was before the country today, and his formal avowal of candidacy will be forthcoming shortly, perhaps within a week.

His message to congress is his platform, and selection by the South Dakota preference convention, gives him the opportunity to declare himself while the imprint of his recommendations on a score of outstanding issues is still fresh in the minds of the people.

Unless present plans are changed, the president, within a few days, will write a letter to his supporters in South Dakota giving them the now scarcely needed assurances that he will be a candidate for the White House in 1924.

Listening to Country

The White House had its ear cocked to the westward today to catch the reaction to the president's utterances. Comment in Washington occasioned little surprise—the Republican conservatives approved, the Republican-Progressives disapproved, and the Democrats roundly attacked the message as a capitulation to "big business." This was expected. Now the White House wants to hear from the country.

Editorial comment from newspapers big and small, from all parts of the country, was telegraphed to Washington today and subjected to microscopical analysis of the president's political advisers. On the whole, they announced themselves as pleased.

They recognize that in at least two respects President Coolidge has provided Senator Hiram Johnson, his only openly avowed opponent thus far, with issues which the eloquent Californian can turn into great political capital. They were the world court and the soldiers' bonus.

World Court

The president indorsed the world court, somewhat guardedly, it is true, but still an indorsement, and proclaimed himself against the bonus from the outset. This automatically commits Mr. Coolidge to a veto of the bill when passed by congress, as it certainly will be.

Senator Johnson is against the world court in any form and he is for the soldiers' bonus. He probably will be able to find many other issues in the president's message. It is perhaps significant that Johnson, who has been fortified with the knowledge of the contents of the Coolidge message for a week, chose the day of its delivery to absent himself from the capital and go to New York, where he is in conference with his campaign managers. According to present plans, the California senator will take occasion within a week to "reply" to Mr. Coolidge in a public statement.

Close In Property Will Be Subdivided

tiful shrub-lined parkways and, in short, every possible development of which the most high class property is susceptible.

One boulevard in particular, starting from the corner of Mountain and Campbell streets, will be laid out as one of Glendale's finest scenic drives, winding through the entire property, following the natural contour of the various knolls. It will be from this main thoroughfare that the lateral roadways will meander into the innumerable charming canyons and dells the tract affords, opening up every square foot of the acreage to intensive, high class, restricted residential development.

Offers Great Variety

Naturally, with this main scenic highway and its numerous subsidiary drives, a great variety of homesites will be made available, giving infinite opportunity for personified landscaping. One need not let many months go by in his vision of the future, here at the Glendale Bowl tract, in order to get a conception of winding avenues lined to left and right with beautiful homes, set amid a beautiful profusion of trees and shrubbery, while on the steeper hillslopes great chateaus of creamy stucco glisten in the sunlight.

Announcement is made by the A. E. Davies company that they will open a branch office in Glendale within a few days, for the handling of this tract. In the interim, they state, reservations are being made through the Hollywood office.

Wm. Pinkerton Passes Away At Los Angeles Hotel Aged 77 Years

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—William Pinkerton, head of the Pinkerton Detective agency, died here today at a local hotel. A complication of ailments was given as the cause of hsi death. Mr. Pinkerton was 77 years old.

DAIRYMAIDS SCIENTISTS

The modern dairymaid, the girl student from the agricultural college or domestic science school, is verily a scientist. She is a bacteriologist and a specialist in the art of bottling milk and churning butter. With her scientific knowledge as to why churned cream makes butter, what temperatures are best and when to dash the churn inside with cold water or brine, she can literally give her old-fashioned country sister "cards and spades" when it comes to taking full charge of the dairy.

STRATEGY BOARD PLANS CAMPAIGN

Coolidge Organization Will Round Up Delegates to G. O. P. Convention

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Formal announcement of President Coolidge's candidacy, is to be followed immediately by an aggressive and well organized campaign for convention delegates in every part of the country, his friends announced here.

Plans for the campaign are now being drawn up by what is known as the "Coolidge board of strategy," consisting of five men who are to be most active in the president's behalf—William M. Butler, Republican national committeeman from Massachusetts; Frank W. Stearns, Boston department store owner; James B. Reynolds, former secretary of the national committee, also of Massachusetts; C. Bascomb Slemp, secretary to the president, and Colonel George Harvey, who has just retired as ambassador to Great Britain.

Butler in Charge

Butler will act as Mr. Coolidge's personal representative, and do most of the actual directing. Colonel Harvey's association will, it is understood, be principally an advisory one. Both Slemp and Reynolds are long skilled in pre-convention work, and will pay particular attention to the south, where delegates are chosen in most states, by the convention route.

Stearns is already known in Washington as the Colonel House of the Coolidge administration. He has been a friend and backer of Mr. Coolidge for many years. He has, on several occasions, acted as personal emissary of the president in tasks requiring delicacy of handling.

The aggressive manner in which the campaign for Mr. Coolidge is to be conducted was exemplified by the virtual transfer of the convention next June from Chicago to Cleveland.

Cleveland Is Chosen

It had been all "set" for the convention to go back to Chicago, in keeping with the custom of twenty years, but the Coolidge managers decided on Cleveland for two reasons:

They believed that to take the convention to Ohio would be a graceful tribute to the memory of the late President Harding; and second, they wanted to take the convention away from the city where Hiram Johnson's headquarters are located and where the Californian admittedly has a strong following.

The next official step in the Coolidge campaign will be forthcoming in a few days. President Coolidge will write a letter to Samuel Elrod, former governor of South Dakota, who sponsored his selection in the state proposal convention last week, stating that

Society League To End War; Club Man's Contribution

MAJ. HENRY REED HATFIELD

Major Henry Reed Hatfield, prominent Philadelphia club man and member of one of that city's oldest families, has just returned from Europe where he, as a self-appointed "social ambassador" organized a "Citizens' League" of society folk, to end wars. The League of Nations, he points out, is dominated by politicians. Society always has ruled the world and is therefore in a position to solve intelligently international problems, he avers.

Christmas Party For High School Faculty

The annual Christmas party for the faculty of the Glendale Union High school and their friends has been announced for the night of December 17, and the social committee of the High School Teachers' club, under the leadership of Miss Mary Hairgrove, is busy making the final arrangements.

At present the program includes a dinner to be served at the high school at 5:30, after which there will be a tour of the new high school building, which it is expected will take two hours.

The guests will then return to the present high school building for the Christmas tree.

NEW JERSEY SOCIAL

Former residents of New Jersey will have their opening social Friday night, December 14, in the Business Women's clubroom at 337½ South Hill street, Los Angeles. Following the program of readings, musical numbers and roll call of counties, there will be dancing.

VARIETY SHOW TO OPEN AUDITORIUM

Talented H. S. Students Will Present Varied Program December 13-14

Now that the Red and Black football squad has disbanded for the season, other student activities will come to the fore, the chief of these being the variety show scheduled for the christening of the new high school auditorium on the nights of December 13 and 14, Thursday and Friday of this week.

Work on the program, which is announced in full today for the first time, has been going on for over a month, a series of elimination tests before committees selected for that purpose resulting in what should prove to be an all-star entertainment. There are the different classes and organizations of the high school, and each one is of a very high character.

Address of Welcome

On Thursday night, after the overture by the high school orchestra of forty pieces, short opening exercises will be held, with H. W. Yarick, president of the high school board, giving the address of welcome. W. E. Hewitt, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will respond on behalf of the organizations of the city, and Mayor Spencer Robinson for the City of Glendale. The formal dedication of the building will be held as soon as the entire structure is completed.

The next will be a musical review by the combined boys' and girls' glee club, followed by a reading by Edna Stearman. A surprise is in store for those attending in the senior class act, called "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers." Elly Christianson will give Norwegian songs in costume, and the Junior class jazz orchestra will give several popular numbers. "Courtship Hollandaise with Planked Soles" is the title of an act to be presented by Gwenllian Warner and Frederica Marshall. Celestial music, in costume, will be rendered by the high school orchestra under the direction of Thomas Woods, Jr., (one of the Celestials). This promises to be the equal of any similar production ever staged in Glendale. Alex McDougal with the bagpipes and Nancy Grant doing the Highland Fling make a promising duo.

Tarkington Playlet

As no vaudeville show is up to the minute without a playlet, the Dramatic class will stage this part of the program, and have selected "The Trysting Place" by Booth Tarkington, of Penrod fame. A very fine cast has been selected for this one act play, and some very hard work in its preparation has been done under the direction of H. L. Brewster.

FINAL DRIVE IN CAMPAIGN OPENS

Ballot Box Now in Charge of Judges; Remains Locked Till December 20

By J. A. MALCOLM
Salesmanship Club Manager

The Glendale Evening News big salesmanship campaign is now on the home stretch. Just one week from Thursday and the big campaign will come to an end. Only nine more working days until the campaign will close and the prizes will be awarded. Nine days to win or lose prizes worth thousands of dollars to you. Nine days that may bring you something that will be worth more to you than the average person earns in a year.

Starting today the campaign manager is an onlooker the same as any outside person, for no subscriptions are being accepted by the campaign department. This morning the ballot box was locked and sealed and placed in the Federal Commercial and Savings bank where it will remain until the close of the campaign. The judges are now in complete charge of the campaign and will remain so until the final night when they will open the ballot box and make the final counting of the credits. This insures every one in the campaign a fair and square deal and no one can justly claim partiality, for that is impossible with the ballot box locked and sealed and the keys in possession of the judges.

Closes December 20

The campaign will come to a close one week from Thursday night, at eight o'clock, Thursday, December 20. The winners of the prizes will be determined by their credits. Subscriptions represent credits and the ones who have the largest number of credits at the end of the campaign will be the big winners of the best prizes offered. Do not overlook the fact that this is the final period and that the campaign will close one week from Thursday.

The final day is Thursday, December 20, and the final hour is 8 p. m. When we say eight o'clock Thursday night, December 20, we mean eight o'clock and not one minute after that hour. Promptly at the stroke of eight the campaign will be declared closed and the final counting will take place and the results made known as soon as the judges can count the credits and award the prizes. It is expected that the final counting will take about one hour so that the results will be known about nine or nine thirty.

The campaign is in the home stretch and if you have any desire whatsoever to win one of the prizes right now is the time for you to do your best work, for to fail now means that you are losing out at the last moment.

Present Police With Copy of Vehicle Law

Through the courtesy of the Southern Automobile club, each police officer will be presented with a copy of the California Vehicle Act of 1923, bound in leather.

Some of these have already arrived and the others are on the way. The individual officer's name is stamped in gold on the cover.

Any motorist who attempts to "talk the cop out of it" from now on will meet with a cold response, as he will have the law with him at all times.

Invite City Council To Sewer Bond Meet

Members of the Glendale City Council are invited to be present at a meeting of the West Glendale Improvement association to be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in the Columbus avenue school, when the proposed $1,600,000 sewer bond issue will be gone into thoroughly, announces Rudolph Streit, president of the association.

Facts are wanted by the people of the dictricts, states Mr. Streit, so that they may know why the bonds should be voted.

POLICY CHANGE FAILS

MANILA, Dec. 11.—An attempt to reverse the policy of co-operation with Governor-General Wood pursued by the heads of the party failed in the Democratic party convention. The Democratas defined their independence attitude as follows:

"The Filipino people are anxious to have their independence, but in desiring it, want to conserve the sympathy and good will of the American people. We believe that even after independence is granted, America's friendship will be of inestimable value for its preservation."

Married Life To Run On Fifty-Fifty Basis

The wedding of Moore and Miss Tichenor. Mrs. Tichenor, bride's mother, is watching Rev. Frank Crane tie the knot

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—"Do you take this woman for your lawful wife and promise not to hold out on her?"

"And, do you promise never to go through his pockets?"

Well, then, that's that.

The recent marriage of Upham S. Moore and Miss Mary A. Tichenor in the Little Theater here found the principals figuratively answering just about such questions as those. For the two had signed a contract before Rev. Frank Crane performed the ceremony, pledging to run their married life on a fifty-fifty basis in all things. Under the agreement they are to put their earnings in a common fund and divide it equally.

They were started on the right road with a gift of $100, offered to the couple who would marry under those conditions during a play, based on married life, which was being produced on the stage.

Will Make Report on C. of C. Committees

The new board of directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce will meet tomorrow night merce will meet tonight at the regular session, when it is be present to consider the recommendations of the committee on committees, consisting of President W. E. Hewitt, Vice President D. H. Smith and Geo. B. Karr, who will present their report on the new committees that have been selected to act for the coming year.

Most of the membres of the new committees are new, so far as the twenty standing eommittees are concerned, but the seven temporary committees will continue to function until their work is completed, according to the present plans.

New Gold Badges for Glendale Policemen

Glendale's police force is all "polished up" by the arrival of the new gold badges ordered some time ago by the City Council.

They have been presented to the various officers, and the hat badges have been called in by Chief Fraser. These will receive a coat of gilt to correspond with the new badges.

SCOUT COURT OF HONOR IS STAGED

Special Program Presented at Central Ave. M. E. Church by Troops

Glendale Boy Scouts and leaders of Verdugo district council held the quarterly session of the Scout court of honor Sunday night at the Central avenue Methodist church.

The Scout court of honor is held every three months in the various churches of the city for the purpose of conferring honors on individual Scouts and Scout troops.

Fifty Scouts were promoted and several troops honored at the Sunday night meeting.

Rev. L. C. Kline opened the service with the invocation, which was followed by a talk by A. R. Eastman, members of the court of honor, on "Troop Efficiency Contests." Other members of the court of honor include Capt. William C. Wattles, chairman, Peter L. Ferry, Frank C. Ayars, Maj. Wyman and Roy L. Kent.

Special features of the program included the presentation of a beautiful silk American flag by A. R. A special prize will be given to them by the members of the Kiwanis club at a later date.

Troop 2, of which K. M. Paine is scoutmaster, was also presented with a beautiful bronze plaque by Roy L. Kent, for the annual field contest recently held in Burbank. Mr. Kent gave a short talk on the development of the Scout movement in America in recent years.

Robert Eastman, with a group of boys, gave a demonstration of first aid.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

TUBERCULOSIS—No. 2

Yesterday in our talk on tuberculosis I told you the common ways of the tubercle bacilli gaining access to the body, and that it is now thought most cases of tuberculosis are contracted in childhood.

Most of the tuberculosis of childhood is contracted from milk from infected cows, and it is estimated that from 7 to 10 per cent of the cattle have tuberculosis. That is why it is very important to have boiled or pasteurized milk unless certified milk can be obtained.

Tuberculosis in cattle will be eradicated when the plan known as the "accredited herd plan" becomes universal. Under this plan the federal and state authorities co-operate with the dairyman, and slaughter and reimburse him for the cows which show, by the tuberculin test, that they have tuberculosis.

Children are very susceptible to the human type of tuberculosis also, and should not be around any person with the disease unless very great precautions are taken. Webb and Ryder state in their book, "Recovery Record," written for the use of the layman, that the healthy adult incurs less risk in living with a tuberculosis patient than riding down town in an automobile, IF the rules regarding coughing, expectoration and cleanliness are scrupulously followed. They go on to state:

"This, however, does not apply to children. A child, especially a baby, is in deadly danger whenever an individual with open tuberculosis feeds him, kisses him, or even holds him and talks to him into his face. . . . Avoid all close contact with children; do not talk, laugh or sing directly in their faces; do not allow them to touch any of your soiled handkerchiefs or clothing; have all dishes and eating utensils thoroughly scalded after each meal, and keep yours and theirs separate. These rules apply even more to mothers than to strangers, for it is from parents and other close relatives that children are most apt to contract tuberculosis."

Children born of tubercular mothers must not be nursed by the mother both for their sakes and for the mothers' sakes. As I told you last week, it is not believed that the germs are inherited. The disease is contracted after birth.

The death rate from tuberculosis is declining markedly. This disease used to be the greatest cause of death, but it is now second on the list, organic heart disease having taken first place. The decline in the death rate must be credited, in a large measure, to the organized campaign against tuberculosis which has been carried on by official and non-official agencies. When you buy the Christmas seals which the National Anti-Tuberculosis association sell during the month of December you are contributing your little share to help this great campaign against tuberculosis.

This campaign is conducted mainly to prevent tuberculosis, but some of the funds are used on the curative side.

The other factors which are markedly helping to prevent tuberculosis are improved hours and conditions of labor, improved housing conditions, and the general rise in the standard of living among wage earners with more time for rest and recreation.

The death rate from tuberculosis is not only markedly lowered by the prevention of tuberculosis, but by the curing of tuberculosis; because tuberculosis is curable, especially early cases, and the late cases are not hopeless under the modern treatment. Hundreds of thousands of persons who have been seriously ill with tuberculosis have been cured through the sanitarium or hospital care often provided by the anti-tuberculosis forces.

The home care of tuberculosis patients has also been made more intelligent and effective. The public health nurses, clinics and dispensaries, and the hospitals and sanitoria form a strong chain of community defense against this disease. We shall expect the mortality (death rate) and morbidity (sick rate) to continue getting lower until eventually tuberculosis will be a rare disease.

Have you bought your Christmas seals to do your little share to make this possible?

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

THE ONE-BOY QUESTION

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are three girls in high school and are considered good-looking and popular by our friends. We are 17 years of age. We wish your advice as to whether we should go with one boy or date wth those we want to. We each have a steady boy friend, but other boys have asked us for dates and we don't know what to do.

STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN.

I think you are too young to go with one boy exclusively. At your age it is better to consider boys as friends instead of sweethearts. It should be remembered that friendship does not permit lovemaking.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a boy of seventeen. I have gone with two different girls. At first they seemed to think a good deal of me. Then they went with some one else and didn't seem to care for me afterward. I don't know whether it is my fault or theirs. I would be thankful for your advice.

DIMPLES.

Probably you were hurt when the girls went with other boys, and after knowing about it did not act yourself. It is only natural that they should have other boy friends and that you should go with more than one girl.

Do not let the fact that a girl friend of yours has accepted an invitation from another boy stand in the way of your friendship. Continue to invite her to places and ask to call at her home. You will probably find that she is just as willing to see you as the other young man.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl nineteen years old. I work in an office with a lot of other girls. I am not bad-looking nor completely ignorant as I attended high school and a private school. I just can't carry on a good conversation and appear as interesting to people as I wish to.

There are girls that are ugly ducklings that have friends of both sexes by the scores. They are always friendly to me but whenever I say anything they always exclaim, "You silly thing." At first I didn't mind, but it has grown monotonous not to be able to say or do a thing that they think correct.

I am one who says things from the heart out and as I am somewhat of a dreamer I guess it is hard for people to understand me.

Some advice would certainly be appreciated, for I would love to be able to carry on a conversation with a person without being laughed at and learn to be entertaining so people will desire my company.

OLD TOP.

Your dreaming has made you introspective. You feel that people do not understand you, which is probably true, but on the other hand I doubt if you understand them any better.

Look to the souls of the ugly ducklings. Are they popular because they are tolerant of other people, generous, sympathetic and responsive? Probably you would not find them sympathetic and responsive, because they do not live in the same world you do. Perhaps your education has placed a barrier between you. While you are living in your dream world they may find life a thing of great reality.

If you must dream, make your dreams earthly for a while and study the people around you. As soon as you learn to understand them better you will find more sympathy between you and conversation will be spontaneous instead of difficult.

like to know about these variations so that we can try them ourselves.

Miss H.: "One of your readers recently asked for a beef loaf recipe which contained rolled oats, olives and tomatoes. I believe that the following recipe is what she referred to. It is very good and may be eaten cold:

"Beef Loaf—Mix together two pounds of beef (round steak, chopped), one onion also put through the food chopper, three-quarters of a cup of rolled oats, twelve ripe olives, two cups of canned or stewed tomatoes, three teaspoons of salt and one-fourth teaspoon of pepper. Place the mixture in a greased bread pan and bake in a moderate oven for one hour."

Answer: We hardly ever fail to have our requests answered by some generous-spirited reader, do we? I want to thank you for this for us all.

B. E.: "Some time ago one of your readers sent you a recipe for eldeberry pie. Here is my recipe, which I thought the readers might like to see, too. I can my elderberries in August for winter use. Wash berries and put them in kettle with water; cook without sugar and can as any other fruit. When ready to make your pie, open the can and put the berries on the stove to boil with the juice of one lemon, or, if you have no lemons at hand, with two tablespoons of vinegar; also add one cup of sugar. Thicken it with cornstarch or flour (making it quite thick), then turn this filling into rich pie crust (either two crusts, or an under crust and strips of pastry across the top). I could not let a winter go by without elderberry pie, which is my favorite kind."

Answer: It was very kind of you to send us this recipe.

Interested Reader Friend: "I noticed the elderberry pie recipe published in your column some time ago. My recipe for this pie is a little different from the one printed: where that one called for sour milk, mine calls for one tablespoon of vinegar. Some of your readers, also, may not know that these berries make delicious jelly. Prepared the same as any other jelly juice and made up with three-quarters of a cup of sugar to one cup of the juice, it is delicious in flavor."

Answer: It is splendid of our different readers to write us about their way of doing a certain thing. For hardly two housekeepers use exactly the same method, and we

ANSWERED LETTERS

L. A.: When hair has turned gray prematurely the color may often be restored; but it must be done by correcting the unhealthy condition which either caused the actual gray hairs to die or sluggishness in the color secretion.

Such restoration is never wrought by applying color to the hair as you suggest. Henna colors the hair without injuring it, but the new hair as it grows out from the roots will always be the natural shade of gray. When this happens it will always be time for another shampoo and the henna application.

D and E.: The only thing to do that will not make this condition worse is to extract the coarse, dark hairs by using a blunt end tweezers, or have them removed with the electric needle. Let the fine hair alone unless it is very disfiguring. In that case bleach it with peroxide so it will not be noticed.

E. H. H.: A girl of 19 years, height five feet, five and a half inches, will be normal weight at 125 pounds.

Mrs. J. C. D.: If you send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply I will be glad to answer all your questions.

Curley: Evidently you are very much underweight, which accounts for the wrinkled condition of your hands. Cod liver oil is advisable in your case as it nourishes and builds up the health. Drink at least one pint of hot milk on retiring.

With brrown eyes and hair your colors are browns, reds, yellows or any of these combinations.

Eyleen: Temporary coloring may be brought to the cheeks by applying hot and cold water, altering a number of times. You will also find this a refreshing treatment when you are tired.

Seventeen: Try the following exercises for reducing the bust: Stand erect with hands on hips and move elbows backward until they meet. Stretch arms forward in front of the chest, place palms together and raise arms over the head. Deep breathing is also helpful.

Mrs. M. L. H.: Your trouble with the cream came from the changes you made in the formula. You may improve it now so it can be used, although it will not be as smooth as if you had followed the directions accurately. To do this heat the cream in a bowl set in hot water and, when all of it is dissolved, remove from the heat and beat into this two more ounces of warm almond oil. Continue the beating until the mixture becomes a cream.

Zaza: The only way to prevent having these boils is to have a good doctor who will find out the cause and cure. The causes for them are often merely an abscess at the root of a tooth or uric acid in the system, or any number of conditions that will poison the blood, even to that of malnutrition from living on a diet deficient in vitamines.

Miss Stella B.: I shall be happy to answer your questions, no matter how often you send to me. I am glad that I have been so helpful to you.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAY'S NEWS

"BRITISH STATESMEN CONCEDE AMERICA'S CAUTIOUSNESS A WISE COURSE"

"British statesmen concede that the United States is acting wisely in holding aloof from participation in a league of nations of the type drafted by Woodrow Wilson, but they regret any tendency on the part of this great country to stand aghast at the apparent turmoil in Europe and rest in the belief that you cannot be of assistance to us."

Viscount Birkenhead

This was the keynote the Earl of Birkenhead, for many years a member of the British Parliament and former lord chancellor, expressed in a recent interview.

The earl's opinion is that President Wilson's representation of the United States brought about premature or at least ill-considered peace.

"But do not take my emphasis for aggressiveness," he said. "British statesmen do not look upon it as the fault of the people of the United States that the two nations have been unable to come together. They do feel, however, that it is the misfortune of Europe that we had to accept as the mouthpiece of your great nation a man who was in no sense a representative of the nation's sentiment.

"Had it not been for Wilson," he added, decisively, "there would not be all of the regrettable conditions in Europe today. The type of peace he demanded had its disadvantages as against a peace which might have been brought about had another representative of your nation come to our shores at that momentous occasion.

"While British statesmen admit the United States has its own decision to make, they do regret any tendency on your part to stand apart, thinking you cannot be of assistance to us. Do not blame Europe for the turmoil which appears to your distant view. Do not be horrified at the reports visitors to our shores may bring back to you.

PILGRIMS GREET POET OF VERDUGO

Happy Housewarming Followed by Destruction of McGroarty Home

By MARY B. DARROW
Of The Evening News Staff.

Well, Saturday we put on our best bib and tuckers to go pay our respects to the conductor "of the Green Verdugo Hills," and the philosophers who helped him receive all the pilgrims who traveled from far and near.

We polished up our old reliable bus and set out gaily, to eat a cookie and drink a cup of tea with the By Gollies man. When we got onto Michigan avenue we squared into line with beautiful cars which, by golly, were like little glass cages with haughty dames sitting inside, being driven by colored men.

However, we thought to ourselves—we may not have a chauffeur, or a glass cage but we like the conductor, because we know it wouldn't make any difference to him if we came on foot or the old white mule, maybe anyway—he'd like us better and feed our mule when we got to the little house in the Green Verdugos.

When we got to Tujunga there were smiling neighbors of the Conductor's, who just pointed out the way without asking any questions.

Many Greet Conductor

Passing by us on the road was a steady string of cars, with the people inside looking as the cat does when it has swallowed the neighbor's canary and it was all because they'd shaken hands with the Conductor and Mrs. Conductor and had eaten their cookie and drank their tea, and had warmed themselves on the Philosopher's hearth, before coming out into the wind, and we said we didn't believe there was another man in the state or even in the states, that all classes from the lowliest up to the highest would make a long trip on a windy Saturday afternoon to see. When we got there prominent men of Tujunga showed us where to park, and then with the cross of San Ysidro shining on the hill top, in the glow of the setting sun, we climbed the quaint stone stair to the house that belongs to the neighbors.

Well, sir, we just had room to move inside. By golly, the Conductor has more neighbors than we could count and they all wanted to shake his hand and they did, and he made us all feel that it was our home and our fire on the hearth, and our own yellow cat and everything!

Mission Play Music

Then we heard the music that the Mission players gave to show their love for the man who wrote California's wonderful "Mission Play."

Oh, yes! We saw Socrates and the postmaster and the man who plays the phonograph, and Mrs. Socrates was there with her pleasant smile and we all scrambled like children for candy on the Christmas tree, when Socrates gave away pictures of the Group of Millionaires on the postoffice steps, of the yellow cat, the man who plays the flute and the postmaster. And do you know how we picked out the postmaster? Well, he had stamps on his coat so we knew who he was. Then we went upstairs and there was another fire on the hearth up there, and the best treat came last, when we went into the room where the Conductor writes his wonderful stories and, by golly, we wrote our names in the visitors' book right at his very own table, and one of us got nervous and blotted the white page, but we knew he wouldn't care.

Then we shook hands all 'round and made room for some more neighbors and left the home regretfully and as we went down the winding path we ran into a very noted physician, hurrying to pay his respects to the best loved man in California, and then we came home.

Well, we talked it all over last evening and thought how we'd like a home like that and how we'd like a housewarming like that, and a house set on the hillside to overlook a valley, full of glorious sunshine, and trees nodding in at our windows and everything, but we knew we couldn't have it, but we could share the Conductor's with him and that made us feel happy.

Home Burns Down

And then came the news this morning that that well blessed home was burned and we couldn't believe it at first or think it right it should be that home, but, it is, so now we hope all the neighbors will help build up a new home and they will. Anyway, everyone is sad, for the best loved man and his well-loved wife in losing their second home, but we know if it is right to do so we will go to another housewarming in a short time, and we do hope it won't be so windy, by golly.

Runs First Train

To Joseph Hingston goes the honor of taking the first train over the new section of the Glendale & Montrose railroad. Mr. Hingston or, as he is better known to hundreds of people, "Joe" took the new car over the tracks on Thanksgiving morning. Joe, who has been with the railroad company five years, feels very proud of this honor.

The high wind which has been blowing for the last forty-eight hours did much damage in different sections of the valley. Mr. Cox on Altura street lost his large double garage, which collapsed. Several of the small real estate offices up toward Tujunga were reduced to mere kindling wood. On Pennsylvania avenue a soft drink stand was turned over on its back. Signs were wrecked all over the valley, awnings were found in the next block or on the roof, or any place but where they belonged; windows were smashed; Dr. Karr had the roof completely torn off his front porch, a portion of it struck a neighbor's house, smashing in part of that roof, while the other half was picked up on the next street. The tar paper roofing from numerous buildings littered the streets of Montrose and La Crescenta at an early hour Sunday morning.

ARTIST INVITED TO ENTER WORKS

White Bands Across Street Protect Children From Speeding Autos

To Conrad Buff, an artist living at 151 Avoca street, has come the honor of a request from the director of the Los Angeles museum in Exposition park to exhibit a number of his paintings in the main gallery of the museum, from December 15 to January 2.

Interpretations of the California desert and of the High Sierras will form Mr. Buff's subjects, he states. These are mainly the result of recent sketch trips and offer unusual variety.

Conrad Buff was born in Switzerland and studied art both there and in Germany, later coming to the United States. He is a member of the California Art Club and exhibits with that organization each fall at the Exposition park museum.

Harold Swartz, a promising young sculptor of Glendale, will also exhibit with Mr. Buff, as will Sheyei Kotoku, a Japanese painter of maritime subjects.

Autos Must Stop

Cars no longer go dashing through Eagle Rock, over Colorado boulevard, heedless of the school zones. White bands have been painted across the streets at Colorado and Floristan, for the protection of Dahlia Heights pupils;; at Broadway and Ellis for San Rafael pupils, and at Eagle Rock and Caspar for pupils of the Eagle Rock school.

Pupils may now cross between these lanes with comparative safety, yet are warned to keep their eyes opened just as carefully as before, lest some heedless or uninitiated motorist fails to stop.

Local residents should add "Eagle Rock" to their addresses, in mailing letters and packages around town, advises Donnell G. Montgomery, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. The postoffice is to be retained and therefore there is no change in this respect since consolidation with Los Angeles.

The change of number list is now available, Mr. Montgomery reports, and those who care to use it should get their requests in early, as orders will be filled in the order received, no charge being made for the service.

Kiwanian Roster

Following is the list of members forming the nucleus for the local Kiwanis club organization: Ira W. Allen, Jr., Fred E. Biles, J. M. Blankenship, Sumner S. Boal, J. B. Brown, R. P. Choate, Roy B. Cowden, Harry B. Crawford, Chas. D. Goodale, Langley J. Goodman, Richard C. Haimbaugh, H. J. Haisch, G. A. Hege, August A. Herrmann, Earl C. Houk, Arthur A. House, C. M. Hensley, W. T. General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY:—Winter Sports in Colorado Are to Begin January 15.

By MICHAEL F. DACEY
For International News Service

DENVER, Dec. 11.—With the officials of the National Park Service co-operating, Denver and Colorado are planning an extensive "Winter sports" season in the Colorado Rockies beginning January 15 and continuing through to the middle of April.

Tentative plans for using Rocky Mountain National Park in the vicinity of Estes Park have been outlined by Stephen D. Mather, of Washington, D. C., director of the National Park Service, to officials, and it is believed a general movement to encourage winter sports will be launched in a dozen communities throughout the state.

Eses Park is easily accessible during the entire winter, with fine automobile roads through the Big Thompson Canon, the North and South St. Vrain canons, or over the Boulder and Glacier Auto lines. Each of these routes is over a course along streams and leads toward the foothills through a rugged country until the spectacular scene of high peaks is reached at Estes Park Village. The snow-crowned mountains surrounding Estes Park afford splendid opportunity for skiing and snowshoeing, and skating contests are planned on the innumerable lakes that dot the valleys in the environs of the Rocky Mountain National Park.

Genessee Mountain, twenty miles west of Denver, reached over paved roads that are always open, has one of the largest ski courses in the world, and annual tournaments have been conducted on this slide for several years.

The Rocky Mountain Ski Club, which operates the course on Genessee Mountain, claims a record for skiing activities in conducting three successful ski tournaments in one year—the first in January, on Genessee; the second in February, over the same course, and the third in midsummer at St. Mary's Glacier, west of Idaho Springs, Col.

Jessee L. Nusbaum, superintendent of the Mesa Verde National Park, in southwestern Colorado, has announced that winter sports will be one of the attractions in that region, embracing an area of nearly 50,000 acres.

"An archaeological wonderland of enchanting beauty," is the way Mesa Verde has been described in summer time, and Superintendent Nusbaum declares that the mountain slopes and cliffs will afford opportunity for all outdoor winter sports.

Colorado Springs, in the shadow of Pike's Peak, is also arranging for a programme of winter sports that will rival the activities of the Alps.

Who's Who in the Day's News

"MINNESOTA ELECTION VOTE OF PROTEST, NOT REMEDY," SAYS E. T. MEREDITH

E. T. Meredith, former secretary of agriculture, refers to the recent Minnesota election as a vote of protest and not of remedy to present unsatisfactory conditions among the farmers, generally.

EDWARD T. MEREDITH

"The result of the election, in my opinion," Meredith said recently, "was due entirely to a lack of attention on the part of the public to problems of the farmer.

"I do not believe the farmers of Minnesota are any more radical than the farmers of any other state. They have the same ideals, same tastes and same ambitions, and they took this means of showing their displeasure of present high production costs and low returns for their crops."

Meredith stressed the far-reaching power of agriculture, stating that scarcely an article purchased in the city cannot be traced back in some form to the farm.

"I wish to correct the impression quite widely circulated," Meredith said, "that the farmer receives his money only in the fall. The proceeds of milk which aggregate more than those of wheat, corn and rye, are received throughout the year. The farmer doesn't sell corn. He uses it in winter to fatten hogs and cattle, which he sells in the spring.

"Bankers and business men generally are not aware of efforts being made to increase production of crops and live stock through scientific means and to lessen the losses through war waged against insects and pests of various kinds.

"They do not always consider what it means to the nation and to finance in particular to save $200,000,000 by protecting the cotton crop against the boll weevil. But the government is working along these lines and I hope that the appropriation for such funds will be increased."

"WHY DO HUMANS DESIRE IMMORTALITY?" QUERIES FAMOUS SPECIALIST

"I do not very well understand why puny human beings have such an ardent desire for immortality," says Dr. Charles Richet, famous scientist and psychiatrist. "If there is a possible paradise there is also a possible hell. I should be much more reassured if some genie would convince me that after death there is neither heaven nor hell, for then, of course, I should have neither regrets, nor anxieties nor anything else. It would be a satisfaction of by no means a negligible kind, not to have to fear the slightest remorse, the least pain, the most imperceptible ennui. Would death be so terrible if it merely allowed us to sink into profound sleep without dreams and without awakening? The whole question is one on which we might debate forever. Whether a future existence is painful or delightful, we shall survive if we must survive, and whatever our fears or our desires may be, we shall not survive if we are not to survive."

MIGRATION NORTH OF NEGRO HAS ADVANTAGES AND DISADVANTAGES FOR HIM, SAYS TUSKEGEE HEAD

The Negro is continuing to migrate to the north and the central west, according to Dr. Robert R. Moton, principal of Tuskegee institute, successor to Booker T. Washington.

"In my opinion there has been no marked cessation in the migration during the last eighteen months," Dr. Moton said recently. "The labor commissioner of Georgia reported that approximately 250,000 had left the state during the last few months. That is true to some extent in practically all of the southern states with the possible exception of Texas.

"So far as the Negro is concerned, the migration movement has its advantages and some disadvantages. European emigration being restricted, northern employers of labor are turning to the one available source of supply, and while I realize it complicates to some extent the race problem in the north, I have been surprised at the ease with which the Negro who has migrated, has been able to adjust himself to the conditions which he meets in the north. On the other hand, the ease with which the north has adjusted itself to the Negro, also surprises me.

"The Negro has the advantage in the north of high wages, and without a doubt a better chance for the education of his children. He meets, of course, keener economic competition and less individual sympathy in many ways than he left in the south.

"In the south, on the other hand, in spite of much that is disappointing to thoughtful white people as well as colored people in the relation of the races, the situation is undoubtedly growing better."

VETERAN RECALLS INDIAN WARS

Friendship With Red Men Won Federal Post

Captain Applegate is a veteran of the Modoc Indian wars and the oldest native of Oregon. He is perhaps the best informed authority in the country on early frontier days in Eastern Oregon. His tales of encounters with the Siwashes in the days when "needle guns" were popular read like fiction to the latter-day "tenderfoot."

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Dec. 11.—Captain O. C. Applegate, veteran of the Modoc Indian wars and oldest resident of this district, is one of the most picturesque pioneer characters of the entire far northwest.

He was born in Polk county, Oregon, June 11, 1845. His father Lindsay Applegate, and mother (nee Elizabeth Miller) came to Oregon in 1843 from Kentucky. They were members of the first wagon train to leave Missouri for Oregon and California in the spring of 1843. There were approximately 900 people in the wagon train.

The three Applegate brothers—Charles, Lindsay and Jesse—and their families all came west in same wagon train. Charles and Jesse were captains of divisions of the train.

Through his keen sense of justice and fair dealing, Lindsay Applegate, the captain's father, became very popular with the Indians. He learned their languages and was much beloved by them.

Made Indian Agent

Evidence of his popularity with the Indians is shown by the fact that when the government made a treaty with the Klamath, Modoc and Piute Indians in 1864 the Indians specified that Lindsay Applegate become the first Indian agent. This was done, and Captain Applegate, although then only a boy, served as clerk to his father and soon learned to speak fluently the various Indian languages. He was made assistant Indian agent and later held the position of United States Indian agent of the Klamath Indian Reservation.

When only a boy Captain Applegate served in the Oregon state militia and was commissioned a captain after displaying remarkable aptitude for military tactics.

On November 29, 1872, when the Modoc outbreak occurred, Captain Applegate was called into the service of the United States army to help subdue the rebellious Modoc Indians, who were headed by the notorious "Captain Jack," Captain Applegate rendered valuable service in the Modoc war owing to the fact that he was familiar with the Modoc Indians' mode of warfare and because he was also familiar with the territory over which much of the fighting took place.

Chief Stayed Loyal

The chief of the Modoc (Old Sconchian) tribe remained loyal to the government and rendered the United States army valuable assistance in subduing the rebels. Had the Modoc chief not remained loyal, it would have caused other tribes to have taken sides against the government, and with such a small number of United States soldiers and whites in the country, it is thought such action on the part of the combined Indian tribes would have resulted in totally wiping out all the whites then in Oregon.

Captain Applegate tells many interesting tales of pioneer days in Oregon. He has spent most of his life in the open and is well versed in woodcraft. He is about six feet two inches in height and, notwithstanding his advanced age is remarkably active. He is a keen student of human nature and by his kind disposition and friendliness has won a host of friends everywhere he has traveled.

Keeps Old War Coat

Captain Applegate still retains the buckskin coat he wore as a captan in the Modoc war, and ofttimes dons it for special occasions.

He has been and still is active in all civic affairs and is credited with having done much to build up Klamath Falls and eastern Oregon.

His experience has been varied. He has been a private and an officer in the Oregon state militia, clerk to the United States Indian agent, United States Indian agent, school teacher, newspaper publisher, editor, printer, United States commissary agent, public school superintendent, merchant, stage driver, insurance agent and is now in charge of the Municipal auto camping grounds of Klamath Falls, Oregon.

Travelers who stop at the camping grounds like to sit beside a campfire and get the captain to relate some of his experiences as an Indian fighter.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S WRIST WATCH

Uncle Wiggily had a wrist watch and very proud was he of it. Not too proud, you understand—of course not. But just proud enough. Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy had given the wrist watch to the bunny gentleman for a present. Mr. Longears wore the watch on his wrist and every now and then he would look at it and say:

"It is time for me to nibble a carrot!" Or he might say: "It is time for a bit of cabbage." Or he might say: "It is time I hopped off to look for an adventure."

"Do you like your wrist watch?" asked Nurse Jane, as she saw the rabbit looking at it one day.

"Oh, indeed, I do," he answered. "I shouldn't know what to do without it. Now I can tell when it is time to go to the movies or to see the marionette show. Oh, a wrist watch is very useful."

Now all this while the Fox and the Wolf had been watching their chance to catch Uncle Wiggily. They were always after him, as a matter of fact, eager to nibble his ears. True, once the Fox had gone to the bunny's bungalow to do this and had come away without any nibbles. But that was because Uncle Wiggily made a clothespin doll for the little fox girl.

"What is that thing Uncle Wiggily wears on his wrist and looks at all the time?" asked the Wolf of the Fox as, hidden on the edge of the forest, they watched the bunny one day.

"That is his new wrist watch," answered the Fox. "He tells when it is time to go look for an adventure."

"He seems very fond of that wrist watch," spoke the Wolf.

"He is," barked the Fox.

"Well, then, I have an idea!" went on the Wolf. "If we could get Uncle Wiggily's wrist watch we could keep it and send him word that we won't give it back unless he lets us nibble his ears. How is that?"

"A good trick!" cried the Fox. "I'll get his wrist watch when he is asleep, and then we'll send word to him that we have it. When he comes to get it back we'll nibble him."

"Very good," said the Wolf. "But I say! Look here! You mustn't get ahead of me and nibble his ears when he's asleep and when you take the watch."

"No I will not nibble his ears until you and I can nibble them together," promised the Fox, who was sly and cunning.

So the two bad chaps laid a plan to get Uncle Wiggily's wrist watch and nibble his ears—not very hard nibbles, you know, but just some little nibbles.

Now, as it happened, one day Uncle Wiggily looked at his wrist watch at 10 o'clock in the morning, and found it telling time for 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

"There must be something wrong with my wrist watch," said the bunny gentleman. "It is ticking all right, but is doesn't keep good time. I'll just take it to the shop and have it mended."

"Uncle Wiggily hopped to the watchmaker's shop, and the dog gentleman, with one glass over his eye, looked at the wrist watch.

"It needs cleaning," he said. "It is full of dust. I suppose you kick up lots of dust, and some has gotten in your watch."

"Yes," answered the bunny. "I must hop fast to keep away from the bad chaps who would nibble my ears. But will it take long to clean my wrist watch?"

"About a week," answered the jeweler dog. "I will take out the inside works and you may still wear the face of the watch. No one will know but what it is going."

"Will it tick?" asked the bunny.

"No, it will not exactly tick," answered the dog. "But wait a minute! I have an idea. I have a tame cricket in my shop. He stays by the warm hearth fire all winter. I'll lend you my cricket to put inside your empty wrist watch after I take out the works. The cricket will chirp and it will sound like a watch ticking."

"A fine idea," laughed Uncle Wiggily. So the dog took the works from inside the watch and shut up in the place the tame cricket.

"Chirp! Chirp! Chirp!" sang the jolly cricket, and it sounded just like a watch ticking, so the bunny gentleman was pleased.

A little while after that he went to sleep in the woods, for he was tired from looking for an adventure which didn't happen. And while the bunny slept up came the sly Fuzzy Fox.

"Ah!" whispered the Fox, "now I can take Uncle Wiggily's wrist watch. I'll carry it to the den of the Wolf and we'll send word to the bunny that we have it. And when he comes to get it we'll nibble him!"

Softly the Fox crept up to take the bunny's wrist watch. But though Uncle Wiggily slept the cricket did not. And, all of a sudden as the Fox reached out to take the watch the cricket inside opened the cover and, jumping out, bit the Fox on the end of his nose.

"Oh, wow! Double wow! What's this—a biting wrist watch! Oh, what a surprise!" howled the Fox, and away he ran not getting the watch after all.

The dog gentleman looked at the wrist watch.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny when he awakened. "That was a Cricket!" Then the cricket hrdl good trick. Thank you, Jolly Cricket!" Then the cricket hopped back inside the watch and ticked merrily away. And when the watch works were cleaned and put back in the case the cricket went to his place by the warm fire and all was well.

So the Fox and Wolf had no nibbles that time. And if the ice man doesn't bring in a snowball for the gas stove to play with, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and his stickum plaster.

Dinner Stories

A negro met an acquaintance of his, also colored, on the street one day and was surprised to see that his friend had on a new suit, new hat, new shoes and other evidences of prosperity, says Judge.

"Hey, boy," he said, "how come you dressed up this way? Is you got a job?"

"I'se got somethin' pettern' any job," replied the other. "I'se got a profession."

"What is it?"

"I'se a orator."

"What's a orator?"

"Don't you know?" replied the resplendent one in surprise. "Well, I'll tell you what a orator is. If you was to walk up to a ordinary nigger and ask him how much was two and two, he'd say 'four,' but if you was to ask one of us orators how much was two and two he'd say, 'When in de cou'se of human events it becomes necessary to take de numeral of de second denomination and add it to de figger two, I says unto you and I says it without fear of successful contradiction, dat de result will invai'bly be four.' Dat's a orator."

One night at a theatre some scenery took fire and the smell of burning material alarmed the audience, reports Chicago Daily News. A panic seemed imminent, when a comedian appeared on the stage.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "compose yourselves. There is no danger."

The audience did not seem reassured.

"Ladies and gentlemen," continued the comedian, rising to the occasion, "confound it all; do you think if there was any danger I'd be here?"

The panic collapsed.

Old Zeph Dorgan sat on a log near the bridge one Sunday morning, casting anxious glances at an uncertain sky, says Judge. His willow fish-pole and can of bait lay at his feet.

Before he had quite decided on the weather, the minister came by, having taken a short cut owing to the fear of a sudden shower.

"Well, Brother Zeph," he asked, "is you gwine to chu'ch or is yo' gwine fishin'?"

"Ah dunno yit," said Zeph. "Ah'm jest a-wrastlin' wif ma conscience."

SISLER TO MAKE GOOD TEAM HEAD

Ban Johnson Speaks, Holds George Will Succeed as Browns' Leader

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—According to a quoted statement drifting in from the Middle West, Ban Johnson has emerged from the silence long enough to interview himself on the subject of George Sisler as a managerial proposition. George, according to our Mr. Johnson, is just about a windblown, flannel-mouthed certainty to achieve success as team leader of the St. Louis Browns next season. Nothing could be more certain, Ban intimates, not even the departure of yesterday's twilight.

Among other things, our Mr. Johnson delivered himself of the following on the Sisler matter:

"He has just the temperament to make a successful manager. A natural leader of men, Sisler is a baseball strategist with few equals, and his foresight, so remarkable in his own play, will be even more apparent in his work as a manager.

Fighting Spirit

"The chief criticism of Sisler in the past has been his reputed lack of aggressiveness. The truth of the matter is that Sisler is one of the most aggressive players in the game. Simply because he does not threaten umpires and bellow at every play is no indication of a lack of fighting spirit. He is in the game every minute—determined, confident and resourceful. I look for him to bring the Browns back into the race as strong pennant contenders.

"Sisler apparently needs pitchers. He has an excellent outfield, and next year, with George back at first base, the Browns will have the best infield in the American League."

New York fans will take issue with our Mr. Johnson on this last declaration, however. It is a matter of doubt whether the Brown infield of Sisler, McManus, Gerber and Ezell outranks the Pipp-Ward - Scott - Dugan combination of the Yankees. But that is another story.

Local School Gets $2300 as Share of Football Game

The football season of 1923 was the most successful that the Glendale High school has ever enjoyed.

The school's share of the receipts of the Long Beach game, $2300, is more than the entire athletic budget for the year, and will place athletics on a sound financial basis.

New equipment, which has been needed for some time, will now be added, and athletics at Glendale will be placed on a par with the activities along this line in any high school in southern California.

BASEBALL STARS UP FOR AUCTION

Diamond Aces to Be Traded Off at Magnates' Meet In Windy City

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—One million dollars' worth of baseball ability, or a sum equally trifling, was due to be tossed on the auction block with the opening of the annual major league meetings and the coincidental business of trading Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals; Eddie Collins of the Chicago White Sox; Urban Shocker, of the St. Louis Browns; Walter Maranville, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Charley Hollocher, of the Chicago Cubs. All and severally, they are supposed to be hung out among the Monday morning wash for the edification of prospective purchasers, the young men in question being dissatisfied with an average salary of a mere $15,000 a year.

The Giants, Cubs, and in fact, every club in baseball, is interested in Hornsby, champion hitter of the National league for the last four years. For some time he made it a rule to hit baseballs, but he varied the monotony late last season by hitting the most convenient jaw and it happened to be Branch Rickey's. For this oversight, Mr. Rickey is said to be ready to dispense with the boon of Hornsby's further society.

Hollocher turned up missing one day with the Cubs last season, and is not cherished very highly on that account. Almost simultaneously, Shocker decided the Browns were not worthy of his best efforts, and removed his salivary gland from among the activities of the St. Louis ball club. He also is to be punished, it is said, by being traded into a prospective world's series as a member of the New York Yankees.

Magnates Jockeying

Just whether any of the men named will be subject to change, was a disputed point among the baseball magnates as they assembled in the lobby of the Congress hotel today. The latest word was that Rickey had patched up his jaw and his differences with Hornsby, that Shocker was still highly esteemed by the Browns, that the Pirates had come to the conclusion that Maranville could play shortstop and that the White Sox were not inclined to part with Collins, under any consideration. It was ever thus with baseball deals.

The Hornsby business, of course, occupied the major trend of the conversation. At one time, McGraw is said to have offered a quarter of a million for the Cardinal star, but McGraw wasn't among those present when the meeting opened, and in his absence, it was believed that Jim Tierney, Judge McQuade and Dick Kinsella, Giant representatives, had a perfect right to offer as much as the empty sleeve for a gentleman's handshake.

The Cubs have already come to bat with what they esteem to be a generous bid for Hornsby and were laughed out of countenance. Somehow, the Cardinals have seemed to gain the impression that Hornsby is an asset. He can hardly appear in any deal without Maranville or Hollocher being involved and the trick there is to line up either or both.

Shocker and Collins

Shocker may be traded, but not without the Browns being a decided gainer thereby, and it is no secret that Collins will not leave Chicago unless a ranking infielder is wafted this direction by way of solace. Ranking infielders, as a general thing, are very plentiful, like sleeve garters at a society wedding.

Detail business today runs quite large. In addition to the major league gatherings, the Western league, the Three I league and the Southern association, among others, were due to meet and the national board of arbitration was down on the books to sit in solemn review on the merits of Williams versus McCarthy for the presidency of the Pacific Coast league. According to all accounts, the board is disposed to toss Williams and McCarthy out the window, and their troubles with them. This would leave Williams in control on the coast.

Transfer of the Toledo holdings from Roger Bresnahan to other parties, was a prospective development, also the appointment of Otto Miller as manager of the St. Paul club of the American association.

GRIDIRON HEROES BANQUET GUESTS

Glendale Football Teams Are Feted as 1923 Season Comes to Close

Two hundred footballers, ex-footballers, budding footballers and football enthusiasts gathered at the high school cafeteria last night to participate in a very successful annual football banquet after a very successful football year. The talks were mostly of football, the place cards were footballs, and the decorations took the form of footballs, so taking it as a whole, it was rather a football occasion.

"Bob" Koltz, old "grad" of Glendale High, presided as toastmaster and master of ceremonies and soon had the boys at their ease. The speakers were all very optimistic regarding the outlook for another championship team in 1924, and when Coach Hayhurst asked Bob Koltz to introduce the next captain-elect, and he called on Dick Ryan, he was greeted with a wonderful burst of cheering. Ryan, who is red headed, and that means a lot in football, has played right half throughout the past season and has been one of the most consistent players on the team. Not a flashy star, he has been in every play and can always be relied upon to carry the ball his share of the time. He is very popular with the members of the student body, and will make an ideal leader.

Heroes to Drop Out

For some of the students present, it was rather a sad occasion, as it marked the end of their participation in high school football. Glendale loses from the squad by graduation, Captain Ronald West, Howard Elliott, all-California star; Walton, flashy backfield man; Brucker, conference guard, and Horii, popular choice for all-state end, and Gingery, Fitz, Murphy, Dietrich, Bradner, Carver and Offutt.

Announcement was made by A. L. Ferguson, vice-principal, that the high school has been awarded $2300 as its net share of the Long Beach game. This is more than the entire athletic budget for the year. While athletics are not conducted in any high school with a view to financial gain, yet there must be a certain income to help support this branch of school activity.

Speeches were made by Principal George U. Moyse, President H. W. Yarick of the high school board; Vice-Principal A. L. Ferguson, Coaches Normal Hayhurst, Howard L. Butterfield and Eugene Wolfe. Captain West and Howard Elliott responded on behalf of the team, Captain Muff for the Class B team and Bob Lowe for the 110-pounders.

Albert Pierce, Dr. Wilbur Hurt, who has very generously acted as team physician during the season, Horii, Brucker, Walton and Bud Elliott also made short speeches.

Girls Serve Banquet

The banquet was served by the members of the Girls' league under the supervision of Miss Ellen J. Hanson, of the Domestic Science department. The society editor was not there so we can't give you the full line-up, but there was everything from fruit cocktail to ice cream and cake, with chicken in between, all cooked fine and served better. The culinary department received many compliments during the evening for their assistance.

Those attending the banquet were the members of the three football teams, and others who have assisted during the football season, members of the board, male members of the faculty, several old grads, and representatives of the press.

Harry Greb Drops Decision to Tunney

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The ambition of Harry Greb to annex the light heavyweight title in conjunction with his own middleweight crown came a-cropper last night when the Pittsburg fighter lost a decision to Gene Tunney, pride of Greenwich Village.

While the decision did not meet with the approval of some, the majority of the 11,000 spectators were satisfied that Tunney had earned the verdict. Tunney won ten of the 15 rounds, Greb accounted for four, while one was even. Greb failed because he could not master the body attack launched by Tunney. Time and again the Village lad shot his punches at the Pittsburger's body, fighting coolly and literally battering his way to retain his American light heavyweight title. Greb was punished in the attack.

Tunney has always been Greb's nemesis. They have fought three times within the last two years and the victory was the second Tunney earned.

THE GLENDALE

"Long Live the King," Jackie Coogan's first picture under his world-heralded $1,500,000 contract with Metro, is the greatest offering in which he has ever been seen and one of the screen's most sumptuous productions, costing $600,000 to make.

The story is by Mary Roberts Reinhart, famed outhor of "Spanish Love, "The Bat," "Twenty-Three and a Half Hours' Leave," and other great stories that have enriched literature, the stage and the screen. It was selected for Jackie from among thousands and gives him unlimited range and background for his talents.

'RESIDUE TO GOD' SERMON TOPIC

Rev. Calderwood Preaches Eloquent Discourse on Duty to Creator

"The Residue to God" was Rev. C. M. Calderwood's subject at the First Congregational church on Sunday morning. The text was Isaiah's story, in the forty-fourth chapter, of the man who cut down cedar, oak and ash trees, part of which he burned in the fire, with part he ate flesh, with part he roasted meat and with what he had left he made a god and then fell down and worshipped it. In the course of his sermon Rev. Calderwood said in part:

"The story illustrates the paganism of Isaiah's time, and it is repeated in the common form of the paganism of today.

"All that that man had come from God. His life, the land, the air he breathed, the food he ate, and the trees that he used for fuel. He took these things that God had given him and with them cooked his food and built his fire and then he cried, 'Aha, I am warm, I have seen the fire.' He almost forgot his god. God gave him all and after he had used all that he wanted for himself he gave the residue to his god.

God Should Be First

"Many people today either forget God or give back to Him only the residue of life. God and His religion should have the first place in our lives, not the last. We must not leave God out of or give Him only the leavings of our lives, our thoughts, our words or our gifts. This is near paganism. If our nation leaves God out of its affairs and its relationships or if it gives God the last place in its consideration we cannot call it a Christian nation, for it is then not following the example or leadership of Christ.

"We should not forget that God owns all. He created all things. 'In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth.' God created and owns the universe, the earth, sun, moon, stars, the rain, life, food, clothes, buildings. Man can create nothing without God. From the beginning God has been trying to make this fundamental fact real to His children. He put man in His Garden of Eden to dress and keep it and he was instructed not to forget his God, the creator and proprietor. Man rebelled. He began to think that he owned it. Men all down through the ages have thought that they owned everything and that they had no obligation to return anything to God. Men still forget that 'every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, coming down from the Father of lights.' 'What hast thou that thou didst not receive?'

God Owns Us All

"God not only owns all things, but he owns us as well. He created us. He created us like himself. 'And God created man in His own image.' The dominion that man has is the gift of God. God gave 'dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the birds of the heavens and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth. Our bodies and strength are God's and not our own, for 'your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit which is in you, which ye have from God, and ye are not your own; for ye were bought with a price; glorify God therefore in your body.'

"If all we have and all we are is God's, then we should recognize God and return to Him our best. Many have returned nothing to God or have given Him only the residue of their lives. They say, 'Oh, how I love the Lord,' and then they proceed to forget all about Him and refuse to take Him into consideration. They say the church is the grandest institution on earth and then they flee to mountains and the sea for Sunday. They say religion is the fundamental thing of life and they give to its advancement only the residue of their thought or time. They say that the Bible is the grand old book and then they spend more time reading the newspaper than the Book of Life."

The Truth About Sewer Bond Issue

THE AGREEMENT BETWEEN GLENDALE AND LOS ANGELES

This is the fifth of a series of articles discussing the agreement between Glendale and Los Angeles relative to the disposal of sewage from Glendale through the sewers of Los Angeles. Section 8 of the agreement follows:

"Section VIII—Said party of the second part further agrees to pay to the said party of the first part at the end of each fiscal year, its proportion of the annual cost of the maintenance of the outfall sewer and treatment and disposal plants of said party of the first part, and in addition thereto its proportion of the cost of the repair, upkeep, maintenance, reconstruction and renewal of the said sewer to be constructed under the terms and conditions of this agreement; said portion of such cost to be paid by the said party of the second part to be estimated and determined according to the ratio of the sewage flow of said city of Glendale to the entire sewage flow from all sources discharged into and carried by the outfall sewer of the said party of the first part."

After the proposed sewer is constructed there will probably be little occasion to refer to any section of the agreement except SECTION VIII. SECTION VIII defines the manner in which Glendale is to pay its share of the operating costs of the sewage disposal plant at Hyperion and its share of the maintenance of the outfall sewers. The disposal plant at Hyperion being built by Los Angeles is a screening plant of a very efficient type. The cost of treating sewage at this plant will not exceed $1.50 per million gallons.

The maintenance of the Los Angeles outfall sewer and the Glendale outfall sewer should be very small for a number of years. The velocity of flow in both sewers is high enough to render them self-cleansing even when the discharge is very small. The types of construction are such as will withstand acid action and thus reduce repairs to a minimum.

Attention is called to the fact that Glendale's share of these operating and maintenance costs is based upon the exact use which Glendale makes of this plant and the outfall lines, namely: Upon the amount of sewage Glendale actually contributes. Could any other arrangement be more fair?

The probable cost during the early life of the sewers will not exceed $2500 per year for the entire city. This estimate is made on the best information that is available at present. As the sewage flow increases the disposal cost will increase, but the maintenance costs will always be small because of the permanent nature of the proposed construction work.
